

1944: In the Thick of It – Overview

At the end of 1943, the published Honor Roll numbered 8. These men lived in Pulaski County at the time of their enlistment or were very strongly connected to it by blood or marriage.

Designated D-Day, on 6 Jun 1944, 156,000 Allied troops stormed the Normandy coast of northern France. The intent was to place an overwhelming force on the ground to push the Germans out of France and end the war in Europe. The Allies were also coming north from Italy.

By winter, while Germany was reeling from its defeat in Russia, it was still a formidable enemy. Germany attempted to retain control over the Allies at the Battle of the Bulge, but failed.

In the Pacific, the Allies and Japan still battled for control of New Guinea, north of Australia, and the Marshall Islands, farther to the northeast. Closer to Japan, the Allies secured Saipan, Guam, and the Philippines.

During 1944, seventy-three of our boys died, four times the count of the previous year.

Although Buck was missing in India and declared dead, his crashed plane wasn't found for 62 years.

Once before he died, Richard, a bombardier, got to see his daughter through his bombsight as his plane flew over Pulaski during a training flight. Ralph had only seen his son in a photograph a month before he was killed in action. Three other fathers weren't lucky enough to even see their babies.

Nemo drowned in the Solomon Islands.

The town of Francesville lost Ralph, Raymond, and Ed within three weeks of each other.

James' fiancée found out about his death from the newspaper!

Jack had worked at Kocher's Meat Market in Winamac before he entered in May 1944. His boss, A. E. Kocher, closed his business that same month. Not only had he lost Jack, but his sons, Harry and Arthur, had also entered before Jack. A naval petty officer, Harry was killed in the European Theater in 1944. Jack died on 29 January 1945, at the end of the Battle of the Bulge in Luxembourg.

Over the years, there were more than 100 occasions when those in service met fellow residents, including brothers and cousins. Almost half were coincidental – meeting on board a large troopship headed to a war zone, in the same or nearby military unit, or in a bar. One bittersweet event was the first coincidental meeting between brothers, Arthur and Harry, and one more meeting a year later in 1944, just three months before Harry was killed.

Having survived the Bataan Death March, Clarence was the only case of "friendly fire" reported for Pulaski County. Sadly, Clarence was predeceased by his wife and daughter some years before.

Our Boys: A Community During World War II

Before he died, Forrest earned his Distinguished Service Cross, next only to the Medal of Honor.

Woodrow died on his birthday. Robert died on Christmas Eve. Jesse died of hypothermia after the truck in which he was riding overturned into a ditch on Christmas Day. And when the year 1944 ended, so did John.

Profiles of these and the rest of the servicemen who died in 1944 are in this chapter's section, "The Dead".

In 1944, besides Forrest's Distinguished Service Cross, at least eight earned the Distinguished Flying Cross. At least four earned a Silver Star, and at least nine earned a Bronze Star. Lawrence earned a Silver Star in Saipan. In addition to the Silver Star, ultimately Archie received two medals from the Belgians for his part in the Battle of the Bulge. More Air Medals were earned, and, sadly, more Purple Hearts.

Here are some of the war stories of 1944. Harold earned his Silver Star during the bridging of the Rapido River in Italy, while in an exposed place, repelling two attacks from artillery and mortar fire and hand grenades. Challie had enough of the Army in May 1943, but the Army didn't have enough of him when he was found working in a potato field. Lawrence earned a Silver Star when he scaled a cliff under enemy fire and knocked out a protected observation post with anti-tank grenades, even though he sustained a head wound. There would be another two months of heavy fighting before Peleliu Island was secure, as Harold wrote of living in foxholes, scanning for lost planes, and filling sandbags. Donald reported that he was among the first Americans to enter Paris and that he wrote that he had never been kissed so much in his life in a letter - to his wife! While in service, Pete ran unopposed for County Treasurer, his wife fulfilling his duties. Arthur earned a Bronze Star when he exposed himself to draw enemy fire, enabling his platoon to discover and knock out enemy positions. Ray received the Bronze Star and the Presidential Unit Citation, likely for taking Hill 510 with 250 men, of whom only 18 returned.

The details of these stories and more are in this chapter's section, "War Stories".

There was more war news besides Our Boys in the paper. Shoe rationing began, so now one could not only drive but also not even walk there.

The details of these stories are in this chapter's section, "Also in the Paper".

1944: In the Thick of It – Community Climate

This is a summary of the news in print available to most residents of Pulaski County in 1944. The primary news sources were two competing local weeklies that focused solely on local news, except for government news related to farming. A nearby daily newspaper provided state, national, and international news, including progress in the war. There was no internet, no television, and minimal news on the radio and in movie theatres.

For 1944, the Logansport Pharos-Tribune in an adjacent county had 307 issues (daily except Sundays and holidays). About 95% of the major headlines were related to the war. There were also seven headlines associated with the fourth-term candidacy and election of Franklin D. Roosevelt, and one headline about the founding of the United Nations. The remaining 2% were related to other national, state, and local dramas.

About 10% of the headlines were about bombing Germany before the D-Day invasion of Europe on 6 June 1944. Eight headlines described the D-Day invasion and the initial days of fighting. The march through France and into Germany took another 20% and 21%, respectively. About 14% of the headlines were related to taking Italy. Russian successes were chronicled in another 10% of the headlines, with more than half in Ukraine. There was 7% related to news from the Pacific war zone, and 8% related to election and other war news from Europe.

International News

In 1943, the fascist Italian government unconditionally surrendered to the Allies, but the Germans still had to be driven from the country. This began with a dramatic landing at Anzio beach at the "knee" of Italy. After five months of fighting, Rome was taken. Collateral damage from the Allied invasion included the eighth-century-old Abbey at Monte Cassino.

In 1944, Russia finally drove the Germans out. Throughout this year, they are pushing the Germans from Ukraine, Poland, and the Balkans.

The Allies were bombing Germany.

On 6 June 1944, the U.S. and other Allied countries landed on the beaches of Normandy. The Americans begin marching across France and into Germany.

In July, an assassination attempt on Hitler failed.

National News

Franklin D. Roosevelt won a fourth term as president.

The Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) and the Works Progress Administration (WPA), two Great Depression programs for the unemployed, were abolished as most young men were in service.

State News

The U.S. Senator, Frederick Van Nuys, died suddenly.

Regional News

A woman set fire at the state mental hospital in the nearby city of Logansport, about 20 miles from Pulaski County.

Our Boys: A Community During World War II

Local News

Pop Keller's lumberyard, a long-established business, burns.

John, 53, sold his butcher shop because his sons, Arthur and Harry, and his butcher, Jack, went off to war. Harry died later that year, and Jack would die a year later.

Don, 48, a local car dealer and active in civic affairs, was killed in a truck crash.

Nancy, 15, a popular girl, contracts polio.

On Christmas Day, a fire destroyed four buildings in nearby Francesville.

Neighbors picked corn for the family of a deceased farmer and for Howard, who had badly burned his hand.

Local Dramas

In the early months of 1944, Fuzzy's antics included behaving in a loud and boisterous manner, disorderly conduct, discharging a weapon, and smashing a woman's windows.

Duke, a dog, was sold by his master in Tennessee during a trip from Indiana to Florida; after a trek home of over 600 miles, Duke found no one at home.

Plans were on again, off again, for a locker plant where residents could purchase meat in bulk and store it if they did not have full-size freezers at home.

Oscar, 54, longtime town marshal, quits after losing election for sheriff.

Joe's ex-wife, Barbara, 27, having divorced him four years ago for drunkenness, joined the Women's Marine Corps.

Lady, a dog, was safely sheltered in an empty vinegar barrel during a barn fire; Harry, her owner, was away at war and would be lost at sea four months later.

A judge lectured 40 boys and girls after property was destroyed when kids from two towns clashed.

News for the Future

There were events, great and small, that were unknown to residents of Pulaski County in 1944 but would prove important in the future.

In January, the Battle of Monte Cassino began. The Allies assumed that German artillery was directed from this eight-century-old mountaintop monastery. Therefore, the monastery was demolished, after which it was discovered that it was not the case.

1944: In the Thick of It – Community Climate

Hungarian Jews were starting to be deported to the concentration camp at Auschwitz in Poland. Hiding in Amsterdam, Ann Frank's family was discovered, arrested, and sent to Auschwitz; she and her sister were soon transferred to the concentration camp at Bergen-Belsen in Germany, where she died in 1945, aged 15.

In August, the foundation of the United Nations was laid by representatives from the U.S., Britain, China, France, and the Soviet Union.

The Battle of Leyte Gulf near the Philippines was the largest and last naval battle of World War II, and a victory for the Allies.

Died: 2/3/1944

Spouse: Dorothy I. Fox Roth

Parents: William Theodore and Gertrude Mary Senn Roth

On 3 February 1944, Richard Roth, 27, initially reported as missing in action, was killed as the plane on which he was bombardier collided with another over the North Sea. The plane was returning to England after bombing Wilhelmshaven, Germany. He was awarded the Air Medal and the Purple Heart. He served 18 months, including 8 months in the European war zone. He was from Winamac. He was buried at the Tablets of the Missing at the Cambridge American Cemetery in Cambridge, England. He was married with one child.

in the Star City vicinity Sunday afternoon between five and five-thirty in a B 17 Flying Fortress. The huge bomber circled the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Roth, then went on to circle the Edward Fox home where his wife and baby live. Relatives were expecting the call as he had telephoned that morning from Nebraska. Lt. Roth is bombardier of the crew, which went to Baer Field, Fort Wayne, then continued to Bangor, Me.

L.T. R. ROTH FLIES OVER HOME PLACE

The William Roth family in Indian Creek township received quite a thrill Sunday afternoon when their son, Lt. Richard Roth, flew his bomber and complete crew over their farm several times and dropped a message to them. Although he could not land the plane, he was flying low enough that the family got a glimpse of him.

Pulaski Man Is Bombardier in Dangerous Flight

"Lady Anne, the battered fortress of Lt. Leo LaCasse of Manchester, N. H., was leaking gasoline. He thought it might blow up in the tight flying formation. So the Lady Anne pulled out of the flight and went on alone to bomb the target. Alone the Lady Anne knocked down Nazi fighters before and after blasting the target, and returned safely to England." This is the dangerous mission in which Lt. Richard Roth of Pulaski, bombardier of the Lady Anne, took part.

The story told in an item from an English newspaper received by Lt. Roth's wife, the former Miss Dorothy Fox. "Pilot LaCasse told about the job. Flack was heavy and at one point more than a hundred fighters jumped up. 'They came from all positions,' he said, 'and a 20 mm shell went through one wing, tearing through a gas tank.'

"Gasoline was leaking all over and there was lots of danger of our blowing up, so rather than risk the necks of any of the others in our formation, we decided to leave and take our chances alone with those fighters."

"That was when we started playing peek-a-boo with them through the clouds. Every time we came out of a cloud, a bunch of them were waiting, so we'd tussle a little, then go on to the next cloud, until we got to the target."

REPORTED "MISSING" ON HIS 25TH RAID

Mr. and Mrs. William Roth of the Pulaski vicinity received a cablegram Feb. 3 stating that their son, Lt. Richard Roth, was missing in action over European territory. Monday they received a letter confirming the cablegram, saying that he was missing over the North Sea.

Lt. Roth had been stationed in England since May. He was a bombardier on a flying fortress and this was his 25th mission. On his return from this mission he was to receive a furlough and he hoped to arrive home in time to celebrate his 27th birthday, March 17.

His wife, the former Miss Dorothy Fox, and their 14 month old daughter reside with her parents in the Star City vicinity. The only time Lt. Roth has seen his child was when he saw her through his bomb sight as he flew over home. She was five months old at the time.

Airman Reported 'Missing' Visits Relatives Here

A tall gunner in an American airplane who was shot down in the European war theater last September and reported "missing in action" a few days later, but who wrote a letter to his family the fore part of January to state that he was safe and sound, visited relatives here over Sunday.

He is Ivan Schrader of Peoria, Ill., nephew of Mr. and Mrs. William Roth of Winamac. Numerous acquaintances hereabout, gained by Ivan while visiting on the Roth farm in Indian Creek township, know him as "Butch." He made the trip here with his cousin, Vincent Roth, now attending watchmakers' school at Peoria, who spent Sunday with the home folks.

Ivan reveals no military-secrets in connection with his experience. He and his companions bailed out of the plane from a height of 26,000 feet, he said, after it had been seriously damaged by enemy fire. He added that he "lit in a cabbage patch then ran like hell." The location of the cabbage patch, and how he got back to this country, are all parts of the untold story.

His safe return is of particular interest to the Roth family, since word reached here on February 15 that their son Richard, a bombardier, was missing in action. The home folks are cheered by the fact that his cousin, similarly reported, escaped without a scratch and was able to write home four months later.

Pulaski County (IN) Democrat 16 Mar 1944: 1.

In a letter received this week from Major General J. A. Ulrich by Mr. and Mrs. William Roth, the War Department revealed it had given up hope for Lieut. Richard J. Roth, who was reported missing in action on February 3, 1944.

The letter said, in part, "The record concerning your son shows that he was a crew member of a B-17 (Flying Fortress) aircraft which took part in a successful bombardment mission over Wilhelmshaven, Germany on February 3, 1944.

"His plane was damaged in a collision with another aircraft of the same squadron over the North Sea. It continued on its course for sometime, but eventually dropped out of formation and was last sighted about 50 miles northeast of Cromer, England. Intensive search by both the British and American Air Sea Rescue Service failed to reveal any trace of the plane or its crew.

"In view of the fact that twelve months have now expired without the receipt of evidence to support a continued presumption of survival, the War Department must terminate such absence by a presumptive finding of death.

2. The decedent and two other enlisted men, left their camp without authority and using a small boat visited a ship in the harbor for the purpose of buying rum. They were unable to find anyone who would sell them rum so they began their return to camp. Enroute the boat shipped water and sank. Hancock was unable to swim the distance to shore and drowned. The reporting officer expressed no opinion on the subject of misconduct. The forwarding officer was of the opinion that since the decedent was absent without leave for the purpose of buying rum his death occurred not in line of duty and as the result of his own misconduct. From the evidence it appears that the area of the harbor in question was within U. S. naval jurisdiction. While the decedent may have violated instructions by leaving the camp, such violation was not the proximate cause of his death. That the deceased departed for the purpose of buying rum is immaterial in the determination of the question of misconduct. There is no evidence that either negligence or the decedent or a wilful act of misconduct on his part contributed in any way to his death. That he violated instructions is not in itself conclusive as to misconduct. It does appear, however, that the intervening and unexpected swamping of the boat in which he was returning to camp was the proximate cause of his drowning. Accordingly, it is the opinion of the Judge Advocate General that the death of Nemo Hancock, junior, late private first class, U.S.M.C., occurred on 20 February 1944, not as the result of his own misconduct.

3. Subject to the above remarks, and to the remarks of the forwarding officer, the attached administrative report is legal.

NEMO HANCOCK IS DROWNED IN PACIFIC THEATRE

Parents Receive
Word of Death of Marine Private.

Pfc. ~~Nemo~~ Hancock, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Nemo Hancock, Sr., 327 Maple street, has been reported drowned in the Pacific area, according to word received by the parents Monday night.

The telegram received from the war department at 6 o'clock, stated that Hancock had drowned but gave no further details. A letter is to follow, however, when details are obtained.

Hancock was graduated from Tipton high school in 1940 and was employed at the DeLo-Remy plant in Anderson, until he enlisted in the marine corps Dec. 13, 1941. He was 21 years old.

Pfc. ~~Nemo~~ Hancock received his boot training at Parris Island, S. C., and after 43 days in the United States was sent overseas. He has been in the southwest Pacific area.

Last summer Pfc. Hancock suffered shrapnel wounds that sent him to a hospital and he subsequently received the Purple Heart medal after action at Rendova island. He had recovered, however, and again was on duty at the time of his death.

According to Mr. Hancock his son had participated in at least three island invasions since he had arrived in the Pacific area. He was last believed to be on Russell island near Guadalcanal in the Solomons group.

The Hancock received the last letter from their son last week but 12 days had elapsed since it had been written.

Another son, William, is attending the University of Wisconsin at Madison where he is in a servicemen's training unit. Other survivors are two sisters, Willmetta and Dorla, both school students here.

Marine Related Here Drowns in South Pacific

Mrs. Stella Reading, west of Winamac, has received word that her nephew, PFC Nemo Hancock of the Marines, was drowned in the Southwest Pacific area, where he had been stationed for nearly three years. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nemo Hancock Sr. of Tipton, received a telegram Tuesday from the War Department which gave no details, but stated that a letter would follow. He was wounded in combat last July 2, and the last letter received by his parents was dated February 15. A brother of the young Marine, William Hancock, has returned to the states after nearly three years in the Southwest Pacific with the Seabees, and is now at Madison, Wis. The young men, only children of Mr. and Mrs. Hancock, are known here through visits in the Reading home. Their mother formerly lived in Franklin township.

CAPTAIN LAUDS NEMO HANCOCK

Letter to Parents Tells of Their Son's War Accomplishments

A letter recently was received by Mr. and Mrs. Nemo Hancock, Sr., from B. F. James, navy chaplain, who officiated at rites for their son, Nemo Hancock, Jr., who died in the Pacific war theater.

The letter contained a vivid description of the burial of their son, Pfc. Nemo Hancock. It stated that he was buried on February 20, at 2:27 p. m. It also expressed the personal regret of Pfc. Hancock's battery as a result of his death.

Another letter also was received from Capt. William A. Buckingham, of the marine corps. It read as follows:

"My dear Mr. and Mrs. Hancock:

"It was my privilege to command the platoon in which your son, Nemo, served so well at Rendova.

CAPTAIN.

"Although he was wounded in action at the time, he continued his duties with the outfit, never uttering a word of complaint.

"I took great pride in the group of men from the beginning; and as you know by now, that particular gun crew, of which Nemo was a member, distinguished itself.

"Your son always did his job well, and you have every reason in the world to be very proud of him. He won the respect of his fellow crew members, and was well liked by all of the officers he served under. I consider him one of the best.

"I do hope this letter has been of some comfort to you; and if there is anything that I can do, please do not hesitate to write me.

"Very sincerely,
WM. A. BUCKINGHAM.

Memories of Former Students Remain With Today's Youth

By MARY JANE O'BANION

Raymond Barnes, Robert James Corwin, Dayton Dugan, Claud Gaiser, Floyd Griggs, Nemo Hancock, Jr., James Hannah, Joe James, Herbert Jones, Tellace Lee, Donald W. Manlove, Robert McIntosh, Harold Martin, Carl Frederic Nieman, William Earl Pike, John Rogers, Robert Spradling, Herschel Stainbrook and Mandron C. Thomas.

These men are now names on a wood, glass and gold case-like plaque hanging on the wall of the Tipton high school.

Each one is dear and each one holds special meaning for they are gold star names of students, friends of the instructors and students of the high school they once attended.

From those who will not return, instructors and students must take faith in themselves and their generation and hope and determination that this nation will be even greater and more liberty-loving as it continues its future dealings with the world of many nations.

Forgotten Much

It may seem to some of us that the younger generation has forgotten much of the past six years.

Ten years ago would bite deeply into the memory of today's youth.

Understandably, they can not remember the early rumblings and the beginning of World War II, when it was "Europe's war" and America was not going to fight it.

Four members of the Tipton high school faculty served during World War I. C. B. Stemen, George Cline, J. B. Oyler and O. A. Beerbower. They undoubtedly know better than most of the instructors the strain and time it takes for the returning recent veterans to become adjusted to civilian and school life.

Mr. Stemen, through funds left the school by the class of 1945, ordered and purchased the plaque which was selected (Continued on Page 6)

MEMORIES REMAIN

Eagle Graces Plaque

The gold discharge eagle encrusts the top of the plaque. From the eagle's feet are draped two gold palm leaves and under it, just above the glass enclosed, rectangular thick, gold name plates is written, "In Memoriam World War II."

The wooden and gold plaque is a fitting memorial from students whose friends' names of latter school days rest side by side in gold. It is also fitting that this nation lead its youth gently but firmly to their place in the world for they have the living of two generations before them.

Lieut. Albert Ross, Jr.

Winamac (IN) Republican 3 Aug 1944: 1.

Lieut. Albert Ross, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ross of Tippecanoe township, was reported killed in action by the War Department. Details were not given in the telegram.

Lieut. Ross, a pilot of a B-17 bomber, was 26 years old. He was reported missing after a flight over Bulgaria on April 3.

One of his squadron comrades wrote the parents, after Lieut. Ross was missing saying that Ross' plane was hit and left the formation to land in enemy-held territory.

A graduate of Monterey high school, Lieut. Ross attended DePauw University. He received his wings as a bomber pilot at Marfa Air Field, Texas on June 28, 1943.

Mrs. Florence E. Ross received the following letter from the War Department recently.

"I have the honor to inform you that, by direction of the President, the Silver Star and the Air Medal have been posthumously awarded to your son, Lt. Albert T. Ross, Jr., Air Corps. The citations are as follows:

Silver Star: "For gallantry in action as pilot of a B-17 type aircraft. On April 3, 1944, Lt. Ross participated in a bombing mission against a vital strategic enemy installation in Hungary. Approaching the objective one engine of his aircraft was rendered inoperative due to mechanical failures, however, Lt. Ross determinedly held his aircraft on course. Despite intense enemy fighter opposition on the bombing run which rendered a second engine inoperative, Lt. Ross skillfully maneuvered his crippled plane through for a highly successful attack on the target, inflicting great damage to enemy installations and supplies. Leaving the objective and enroute to base, anti-aircraft fire rendered a third engine of his aircraft inoperative, and Lt. Ross immediately gave the order to abandon the stricken aircraft. Observing that all but two of his crew had safely cleared the plane, displaying outstanding courage and devotion to duty, Lt. Ross remained at the controls of his aircraft to allow sufficient time for the remainder of the crew to parachute to safety. Despite his gallant efforts the three crew members crashed with the aircraft. By his conspicuous gallantry, fortitude, and intense devotion to duty, as evidenced throughout his combat career, Lt. Ross has reflected great credit upon himself and the Armed Forces of the United States of America.

Air Medal: "For meritorious achievement in aerial flight while participating in sustained operational activities against the enemy from March 12, 1944, March 30, 1944."

The decorations will be forwarded to the Commanding Gen. Fifth Service Command, F. Haynes, Columbus, Ohio, who will select an officer to make the presentation. The officer selected will communicate with you concerning your wishes in the matter.

My deepest sympathy is extended to you in your bereavement.

Sincerely yours,
Robert H. Dunlop

Services for
Lt. Albert Ross
Next Week

Funeral services for Lt. Albert T. Ross Jr. of Tippencanoe township are to be held at 11:00 a.m. next Wednesday, June 29, at Louisville, Ky., with burial in the Zachary Taylor Military cemetery, there.

As detailed in The Democrat a month ago, when it was learned that the body of the war victim was one of three Americans lost on a mission over Hungary, Lt. Ross was one of three American flyers who lost their lives in a plane crash in Hungary on April 3, 1944.

At first, men were half-burned, when the machine exploded and crashed, that identification of the bodies was impossible. They were buried together in a temporary cemetery at Belgrade,

The other two victims were from Pennsylvania and Missouri, and the Taylor cemetery was chosen as the most appropriate from their respective homes.

Six Escape; Three Die

Lt. Ross was first pilot and commander of a Flying Fortress based in Italy. While it was on a mission over Hungary, it exploded and the nine men in the crew were ordered to parachute out. Six were able to do so, but the explosion took place before Ross, his pilot, and another man could make their escape. They fell to earth in the burning mass.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert T. Ross Jr., a young man graduate from Monterey High School in 1934, then attended DePauw University. He enlisted in the air corps in 1942, receiving his commission as a second Lieutenant during the following year.

The parents are planning to attend the service at Louisville. They will be accompanied, according to recent information, by a group of relatives, including Mr. and Mrs. Harold Staffeld of Winamac, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ross of Hammond, Miss Bertha Ross and Ross Hienemann of Indianapolis, Lt. Ross and daughter Ruth of Fort Wayne. Several friends have also expressed the intention of attending.

War Is Discussed at Rural Youth Meeting

The Rural Youth of the county met Tuesday night at the Star City gymnasium for their regular monthly meeting. Keith Sayers gave two guitar and vocal solos. A group discussion on, "What Rural Youth Think of War," was led by Ruth Riggs and Dick White.

It was decided that the next meeting will be held at the Francesville school. The refreshment committee appointed is composed of Ruth Fritz, Pearl Hoffman, and Wayne Degner. Josephine Berkshire was selected to give a reading at the next meeting.

A social hour with refreshments of sandwiches and apples served by the boys followed the business meeting.

James Herbert "Herb" Fletcher

Herb worked his way up from National Guard infantry to Air Corps aircraft mechanic, then pilot, and had just arrived at the air base the week before his fatal flight.

Born: 3/8/1920

Entered: 4/24/1941

Branch,SN,Rank: USAAC,O-819677 or 20506741,2LT

Died: 5/2/1944

Parents: John Roy and Golda May "Goldie" Henninger Fletcher

On 2 May 1944, Herb, 24, died piloting a B-24 bomber that crashed out of Charleston Army Air Force Base. He had served for 44 months, including time in the infantry and as an aviation mechanic. He had an uncle and three cousins in Pulaski County. He was buried in Abbottsville, OH.

Lt. James H. Fletcher, 744 Central avenue, Greenville, became a B-24 bomber pilot the hard way. Fletcher enlisted in the National Guard and left for camp with one of the first units, the outfit from Covington. After a year and a half of slogging it in the infantry he transferred to the Air Corps and received training as an aircraft mechanic at Keesler Field. Following another year of grooming bomber engines, Jim decided that he'd like to fly those craft upon which he had been manufacturing the motors. He thereupon passed the qualifications and attended pilot school which terminated recently after a nine-weeks' pilot transition training course on four-engine Liberators at Maxwell Field, Ala. He was home a few weeks ago and then left for the east where he picked up his bomber crew and now possibly is in the European theatre of operations piloting his four-engined battle craft.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The following letter has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fletcher, 744 Central Avenue, Greenville, from their son, Private James Herbert Fletcher who is now stationed with the 36th School Squadron, U. S. Army Air Corps, at Lowry Field, near Denver, Colo.

November 17, 1941.
Monday afternoon.

Dear Folks:

Just came back from dinner. Had chicken, too. That's pretty good for Monday. Ha!

Before I forgot it, I got my shoes okay. I forgot to mention it until now. When the box came, all the fellows thought it was candy. I recognized what it was, though. They were all disappointed. Guess that will teach them a lesson. Ha!

Weather here is a little cooler today. Looks like snow, too. I wouldn't be surprised, because it has really been nice for the last week. They say that it sometimes stays nice until Christmas, though.

Well, I finally got to the mountains. We went up to the Recreation Center in Denver yesterday and signed up. In a little while a lady came in and asked for two soldiers. Ed Wright, Kenneth Ochs and I were together though, so she said that three would be alright. Just she and her husband and two small children, so we weren't crowded. They had a 1941 Hudson, too. Anyway, away we went. Drove out through Golden, a small town, then turned and went up Lookout Mountain. The road winds back and forth, all the way up, and the scenery is beautiful. We could look clear back to Denver about 30 miles. We took several pictures. Then we went up to Buffalo Bill's grave. It's very pretty, and rests clear on the top of Lookout Mountain. I'll enclose a card, showing it. The view from there is wonderful. The air up there is a lot thinner, too. We were gasping for breath after climbing a few steps.

From there, we drove on to Idaho Springs, a gold mining town. All the mountains around there are dotted with mining shafts and mining caves. We stopped there and looked at some rocks, but didn't find any gold. Ha! We were entirely surrounded there by mountains, and I can't begin to describe the beauty of it. On one side of the road would stand high rounded peaks, entirely covered with green fir trees, looking like huge Christmas trees. Then directly on the other side would loom huge, rocky cliffs with not a sign of any plant growth at all. The road wound back and forth through the valley.

We drove around past Evergreen Lake then. It was entirely frozen over, but not solid enough to skate on. Seemed funny to stand in snow and look at ice, and still not be a bit cold. In fact, our houses were too warm. The sun was shining, and it seemed like Spring, but the disproved that. It's a nice size lake, too.

From there, we left the main highway and followed a little winding road down through Bear Creek Canyon. That was the prettiest part of all. We just seemed to leave civilization behind there, as we drove along. The canyon was just wide enough for the road and Bear Creek itself. At times, the rocky cliffs rose straight up on both sides, with not more than 40 or 50 feet between them. In the wider places, people had cabins built along the side of the stream. All along, we saw many blue spruce trees, and they've really beautiful. They looked like a frost tinted fir tree. That's the best way I can describe them. Then we drove on down to the Red Rocks, and they're really red, too. The CCC boys are building a big natural amphitheatre right between two huge rock formations. It's really pretty but after climbing about 100 yards up in it, we were too worn out to appreciate it.

From there, we drove back to Denver. All together, we drove over 80 miles. They (Mr. and Mrs. Albinson) then took us down to their house for supper. They're swell people, too. They have a boy in the Navy, stationed at Great Lakes Training Station. After supper, they drove us back to the Center. When we got there, we discovered that they were looking for some soldiers to go to a supper at the Green Gables Country Club, so we piled in and went along.

The hostess insisted that we go, because they needed 30 soldiers, and only had about 40. (Knowing us, you can imagine how much they had to insist). Anyway, we all had a grand time. It's one of the classiest places around Denver. They served us supper, had a swell floor show, and then brought us home.

Listen to this: When we rode out there, we rode with a Mr. Meyers, driving a big La Salle. When we got ready to leave, Ed, Kenneth and I got into another big La Salle which was sitting right behind Mr. Meyer's car. It was driven by a colored chauffeur. When we mentioned riding out with Mr. Meyers, the colored boy laughed and said, "Oh yes, both of these cars are his. I drive for him." Yipe! Getting up in the world, aren't we?

Well, I guess I talked enough for this time, so I'll sign off. Answer soon, and tell everyone hello. Don't forget, you promised to send some candy. We'll be waiting. So long.

Love,
Herb.

This mission would be the first to this tough and heavily defended target - the oil refineries at Politz. The 392nd would suffer high casualties on this raid. The 578th and 577th were assigned lead with Bombardiers, Lieutenant Joachim and Captain Colburn, respectively. At 0430 and 0500 hours, (27) crews were briefed and at 0749 take-offs began. A total of (26) ships bombed the target area, releasing (260) 500lb GP weapons, but good bombing was hampered by an effective smoke screen over the target and the ensuing fighter encounters. An estimated 75-100 enemy fighters attacked the Group comprised of about (75) single-engine ME-109s and FW-190s and (25) JU-88s and at least (1) twin-engine ME-410. The severe fighter attacks were encountered for about thirty-five minutes near the target between 1150 and 1225 hours. The Group lost (6) aircraft on this mission with many casualties

MISSION LOSS CIRCUMSTANCES: A returning eye-witness reported, "ship turned over with two engines out, altitude 21,700", and no further details were related on this aircraft loss. A German Report KU #2086, Air Base Hqs at Greifewald reported that this plane had crashed near a village named Gueltz, and the railroad Demmin-Altentreptow, about 1145 hours, 29 May. The crew had been shot down by a fighter, and was 99% destroyed from an air explosion and fire engulfing unexploded bombs at the crash site. Nine (9) crew members were found dead and identified at the site above. One, the Navigator Lt. Bassett, who had bailed out successfully, was taken prisoner immediately in the area. It was reported that the prisoner was transferred the next day, 30 May, from the Commanding Officer at Tutow (Berlin area) to Oberursel (Dulag Luft). Local burial of the casualties was carried out.

INDIVIDUAL ACCOUNTS OF CREWMEN FATES/BURIAL RECORDS: Lt. Bassett, the only survivor, gave a brief account on a casualty interrogation (U.S.) form dated 27 July 1945. He stated that the plane had been attacked by enemy fighters and the nose section had been set afire; that he bailed out but saw no more parachutes coming down, although he was in a position to see them had others gotten out. That was the extent of his report (in this MACR file record).

German report of 1 June 44, message AF 965/64, Air Base Hqs Griefewald, 2/Ill gave account of the burials of the crew casualties: all were buried at the village of Gueltz, (800) meters from the Gueltz Estate, as recorded: Metz (Grave 1); MacDonald (Grave 3); Powell (Grave 4); Tyler (Grave 5); Troutman (Grave 6); Podolski (Grave 7); Blaida (Grave 8); Brown (Grave 9); and Ricci (Grave number not given). The Germans identified one of the deceased as Sgt Corbett X. Miller after they found his Soldier's Individual Pay Record. Although Miller was originally a member of 1/Lt Tyler's crew, he had been seriously wounded on the Hamm mission (April 22, 1944) and hospitalized. He was eventually returned home. Why his Pay Record was at the crash site is a mystery. U.S. National Cemetery records account for the following re-interments for certain members of this crew. These members were re-buried at the ARDENNES Cemetery, near Liege, Belgium: Podolski (Grave B-27-7); Metz (Grave D-7-50); Blaida (Grave D-7-49) and Powell (Grave D-7-47). Podolski was awarded the Air Medal with (2) Oak Leaf Clusters and Purple Heart; Metz and Blaida both an Air Medal with (1) Oak Leaf Cluster with Blaida's being also a posthumous Purple Heart, but the latter award not in the case of Metz; and Powell is noted to have an award of the Purple Heart, posthumously as well. No other record connected with the MACR exists as to the subsequent reburials of the other crew men.

On 27 June 1944, Jesse Brown, 21, who was first reported missing in action, was killed in action in France. He was awarded the Purple Heart. He served 16 months, including 13 months in the European war zone. He was from Monterey. He was buried in the Normandy American Cemetery, Colleville-sur-Mer, France.

Jesse Brown

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Brown of Monterey have received word from the War Department that their son Jesse, twenty years old, was killed in action on June 27 in France. A previous report had reached them July 7 stating he was missing on June 15, but the telegram sent more recently informed them that the first report had been erroneous. A later letter from Washington stated that details and place of burial would be revealed when it was possible.

The young man was born September 26, 1923, at Agosta, Ohio. He attended Monterey school and was employed at Kingsbury prior to his induction in the Army on February 19, 1943. He received his basic training at Camp Wheeler, Ga., leaving the states a year ago last month. He took part in the Sicilian invasion, went to England in December and was in the initial invasion of France.

Surviving, besides the parents, are brothers Howard, in England, Mervin, in the Army, and Lowell, at home; grandfather, Jesse A. Shackelford, who is critically ill at the Brown home.

Beaver Flyer Reported Missing Soon After Receiving DFC

A message informing Mr. and Mrs. Harry White of Beaver township that their son Lieut. Howard White was missing in action over Hungary, as of July 14, reached them last week end, only a short time after receipt of word that he had been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, together with an air medal and promotion from co-pilot to pilot.

The young officer has been in service for two and one-half years, and overseas since last April. He was based in Italy and participated in about thirty missions.

Following his graduation from Pulaski high school in 1936 he attended Manchester college for two years, then taught in Beaver township for four years.

His citation for the award of the Distinguished Flying Cross, a copy of which has reached the family, reads as follows: 'For extraordinary achievement in aerial flight as co-pilot on a B-24 type aircraft. On May 24 Lieut. White participated in a bombing mission against an important enemy aircraft factory in Australia. Approaching the target, his aircraft sustained severe damages from intense and accurate enemy anti-aircraft fire. The navigator and bombardier were severely wounded and his pilot became extremely dazed. Immediately assuming control, Lieut. White skillfully brought his crippled aircraft through the enemy fire for a highly successful bombing run, sharing in the utter destruction of the target. Forced to drop from the comparative safety of the formation, displaying outstanding courage and determination, Lieut. White brought his sickened aircraft through enemy territory for a safe landing at base without further damage to his plane or injury to the crew. By his outstanding devotion to duty, as evidenced throughout his combat career, Lieut. White has reflected great credit upon himself and the armed forces of the United States of America.'

PVT. MARION APPEL

Pvt. Marion Appel, twenty-two years of age, is dead as the result of wounds received in fighting in the Pacific. The terse telegram from the War department, telling of her son's death, was received by Mrs. Otto Appel on Saturday, and gave no other information, except that he had been temporarily buried.

Pvt. Appel had been overseas eighteen months with the Raiders, a branch of the Marine Corps. He enlisted in the Marines October 1, 1942, and had been in the thick of the Pacific fighting after leaving the base in New Zealand. He was at Bougainville, but his letters for several months had been infrequent and did not disclose his location. The last letter received by the family was on June first.

Born in Gary, May 7, 1922, Marion came to the Winamac vicinity with his parents eleven years ago, and after completing school at Ripley assisted his father on the farm. After the death in 1940 of Mr. Appel, a veteran of World War No. 1, and overseas fourteen months, Marion remained at the family farm for a time, then went to Gary where he was employed at the time he enlisted.

Surviving besides the mother are sisters, Mrs. Katherine Whybrew and Mary Lou; brothers Hilbert, Donald and Otto, all at home; also the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Pugh of the Kewanna vicinity.

Mother of War Victim Receives Officer's Letter

Mrs. Otto Appel of the Winamac vicinity has received the following letter from the captain of the company of which her son Marion was serving when he suffered fatal injuries last July:

Dear Mrs. Appel:

This letter is written to express the deep sympathy of the officers and men of this company for you in the loss of your son, Private First Class Marion H. Appel. I realize that this letter is late, but we were not sure that you had been notified.

Your son was killed during an enemy night attack on July 22, 1944. It was the day after our landing on Guam. Marion was serving as a machine gunner when a Japanese hand grenade exploded near him, causing severe wounds. His buddies gave him first aid but were unable to save him and he died within a few minutes.

I had known Marion since he joined the battalion in December, 1942, and was his platoon leader for over a year. All of us who knew him will long remember him as a willing, intelligent Marine and a cheerful, loyal, brave comrade.

Sincerely yours,

Robert Baske, in 'Missing' List Last Week, Reported Dead

Cpl. Robert Baske, well known lad whose energy and pleasant demeanor had endeared himself to friends and acquaintances here in his native town, is the first actual resident of Winamac to make the supreme sacrifice in the European war.

Word came early last week to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baske, that he was "missing in action." This message was followed by another one Sunday reporting that he had been killed.

Only nineteen years of age, and a graduate of the Winamac high school in the class of 1943, Robert gave up his budding business as a photographer in September of last year to answer the Army's call. He completed his basic training in March of this year at Fort McClellan, Ala., meantime winning promotion to corporal in an infantry company. His outfit went to Ireland for further training in April, was later transferred to England, then went to the scene of action in France during June or July.

The young man was born in Winamac on April 24, 1925, and spent all of his life here until entering service. Besides the parents he leaves a brother and sister, Dick and Almajean.

War Memorial Is Dedicated At Star City

Stone and Court Are Erected as Tribute to Servicemen of Community

(By Mrs. C. L. Reed)

The dedication of the Star City War Memorial Court, in connection with the Memorial Day program Sunday afternoon, was an impressive event. The memorial embraces the area on the school grounds between the school building and the gymnasium. The main feature of the court is a native boulder set far back into the enclosure. A bronze tablet on the stone carries this inscription:

"In honor of the men and women who left the Star City community to serve their country in World War II and in memory of the three who gave their lives.

Robert E. Fahler, Inf.
David L. Jones, Navy
Richard B. Reed, A.A.F.

They fought for Peace with Honor."

A long narrow cement walk connects the boulder part of the memorial to a circular base for the 60-ft. flag pole. On three sides of this are curved benches of Bedford stone, each with a gold star for the three young men who gave their lives. Shrubs and plants next to the buildings add beauty along the sides and front. The space behind the boulder forms a stage, and laurel and flower boxes outline the front of the area.

Honored at Services.

This was the setting for the services Sunday afternoon. American flags on standards and potted red geraniums around the flag pole made up the decorations. Music was furnished by the Star City band and a male trio.

The Rev. O. B. Davis gave the Memorial Day address, and the Rev. John Paul Jones, formerly of Star City, gave the dedication talk. A folded flag lay on each stone bench until being presented to the families of the deceased veterans by former members of the same branches of service—Darwin Sayers, A.A.F.; Roger Lincoln, Navy, and George Hoesel, Infantry. Mrs. Clark Reed placed the wreath on the memorial.

The War Memorial committee was made up of representatives of each community organization, including churches and school, and the construction was financed with subscriptions by interested groups. Suitable plantings will be made from time to time. The committee consisted of Mrs. Reed, Mrs. Maud Wlrick, Mrs. Frank Stephens, Floyd Knebel and Dwight Surber. In charge of the Memorial program this year and dedicatory services were Mrs. Stephens, Mrs. Sylvia Geier, Mrs. Tom Densborn and Mrs. Fred Cords.

On 18 August 1944, Howard Jordan, 30, initially reported as wounded, was killed in action in France. He served 8 months, including 1 month in the European war zone. Until adolescence, he lived in Pulaski County. He was buried in the cemetery in Remington. He was married with four children.

Casualty Message Tells of Death Of Howard Jordan

Details were received this week concerning the death of Pvt. Howard Francis Jordan, son of Mrs. Philip Bergdolt, living south of Winamac on the White county line, who was killed in action in France on August 18.

Pvt. Jordan's wife, who lives in Gary, received a telegram from the War Department on September 1, stating that he had been wounded on August 18. Another message on September 7 revealed that he had been killed in action on that date.

In his last letter to his mother, written August 11, he stated that he had arrived in France and that the phase of the war "there was 'serious business.'" Pvt. Jordan entered service on January 4 of this year and was in the infantry. He only had been overseas since July.

Father of Four Children.

Thirty years of age, Jordan was born January 1, 1914, in Beaver township. During his early school years he attended a country school in Beaver township and Pulaski school. After the family moved to White county, he attended Royal Center high school. Before entering the Army, he was employed in the Gary steel mills.

Survivors, besides his mother and wife, include four children—Howard Jr., six; Jean, five; Ruth, two; and Sharen, born July 9, whom he never had seen; two brothers — Cpl. George, now in France; Alfred of Beaver township; a sister, Mrs. Edna Cartmell of the Monticello vicinity. His father died in 1918.

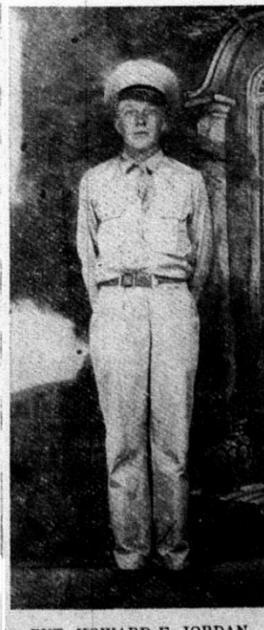

Services To Be Sunday

The remains of Pvt. Howard F. Jordan, formerly a resident of Beaver township, are to reach here Friday noon and will be taken to the Kennedy funeral home, where final rites will be held Sunday afternoon at one o'clock.

Born Jan. 1, 1914, he attended school in Beaver township and Pulaski, then took employment at Gary. He entered the Army from there early in 1944, just after his thirtieth birthday; was sent to Europe in July of that year, and was killed in action the next month—Aug. 8, 1944.

The soldier's mother, Mrs. Philip Bergdolt, lives south of Winamac on the White county line. His widow is a resident of Hobart. He was the father of four children, the youngest of whom was born after he entered service. Alfred Jordan of Beaver township is a brother; there is one other brother, George, and a sister, Mrs. Edna Cartmell of Monticello.

Mothers of World War II are to hold a memorial service at the Kennedy chapel Friday evening.

Paratrooper From County Killed in Action

Pvt. Alvin Copeland of Tippecanoe Township Is Holland Casualty

A telegram from the War Department Wednesday notified relatives of the death of Pvt. Alvin Copeland, which occurred in action in Holland on September 27. The message came to the soldier's brother, Shirley Copeland of Winamac because of the advanced age of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Copeland of Tippecanoe township. The message stated a letter would follow.

Pvt. Copeland entered the Holland campaign with the paratroopers and it is assumed he was with the trapped division which suffered heavy casualties. He recently told in a letter of going with the glider troops to France. He was in the Sicilian campaign, and had seen service also in Ireland and Africa during his more than two and a half years in the Army. He was inducted March 23, 1942.

Parents Receive Letter from Son's Chaplain

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Copeland of the Monterey vicinity received a letter last week from the chaplain of their son's unit, parts of which follow.

My dear Mrs. Copeland:

In the season of sorrow occasioned by the death of your son Alvin, killed in action in Holland on September 27, 1944, may I extend to you my deep sympathy. I was his chaplain, and I assure you that your loss and sorrow is also our loss and sorrow. The officers and the enlisted men of the division join me in this expression of sincere sympathy. Your son was a part of the 82nd Airborne division. We miss him even as you do. We are proud to have had him with us.

To the 82nd Airborne division he rendered needed service in battle. To the last fatal moment he was a dependable and efficient soldier. PFC Copeland was cheerful even under adverse condition; his friendliness was sincere—in combat he was one of the best liked soldiers in the battalion. He was proficient in the service to which he was assigned and he was courageous in the discharge of duty.

His body was buried in an American cemetery in Holland, a chaplain of his own religious faith conducting the final rites. At some later date the War Department will notify you of the location of the grave.

Now that Alvin has been transferred to "that land from whose bourne no traveller returns," I pray that the Supreme Commander, our Father in heaven, will grant unto him joy and peace more than we can ask or think; and, unto you, the grace of His comfort and strength.

Sincerely,
WILLIAM J. REID

MEN AND WOMEN IN WAR SERVICE

County Men Meet in Italy, Hawaii, Alaska and on Board Ship.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fagner of Jefferson township received a letter this week from their son Ed in which he tells of a meeting with his brother Bob in Italy. When a third brother, Wayne, at home, sent Ed the new address of their brother Bob it proved to be in a camp fifteen miles distant from Ed's camp in Italy. Ed was fortunate in getting transportation there and a week end pass. In his letter Ed said: "Fifteen miles sounds close to you, but it isn't that way here, and one is not always sitting around his tent waiting for visitors from home. I may not get to see him again but this meeting did us both a lot of good." Bob has been promoted to private first class.

In a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cal McKinley of Winamac, their son Harold tells of a recent meeting with Dean Bartlett, another Winamac boy in the Aleutians. Through correspondence with home folks each learned of the other's presence on the same island, a mile apart, but weather conditions prevented travel. When the first nice day came Harold made the trip. Both young men have been stationed in Alaska and the Aleutians for more than two years and this was their first meeting.

John Rafferty, WT 3/c, of Star City, was aboard an aircraft carrier for some time when his presence was discovered by Petty Officer Clyde Robertson, formerly of Winamac. Robertson, who has been member of the ship's band since he was assigned to duty nearly two years ago, recently spent a leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Robertson of Chicago.

Pvt. Joseph Schmicker wrote his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Schmicker of the Winamac vicinity, that he had met Cpl. Jim Nufer in the Hawaiian islands recently. Pvt. Schmicker is now stationed at a south Pacific island. Mrs. Schmicker's brother, PFC Gerald Gilsinger, has written her that he is now located in the south Pacific also.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fagner received a letter from their son Robert Tuesday, telling of his meeting his brother Ed in Rome, and that they had seen each other three times after that. They had also met last December in Italy.

Wounds Fatal to
Sgt. Robert L. Fagner
Of Jefferson Twp.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fagner of Jefferson township received word Sunday from the War department that their son, Sgt. Robert Lee Fagner, died on October 4 from wounds received in action in southern France. The young sergeant, who would have been twenty years of age had he lived until October 24, has served in Africa, Italy and France during a year overseas. He was in the infantry.

Pulaski County (IN) Democrat 26 Oct 1944: 1.

Sgt. Fagner was born near Fulton on October 24, 1924, but had spent most of his life in this vicinity. The family lived northeast of Winamac for a time, later moving to the farm west of town where they now live. Before entering service, he was engaged in farming and trucking. He attended Francesville high school, and entered service March 31, 1943.

Holder of Purple Heart.

The last letter received from Sgt. Fagner was written October 2, two days before his death. He said he was then in a rest camp for two or three days, but made no mention of having been wounded. It was received by his family last week. In January of this year he was awarded the Purple Heart for wounds sustained in Italy.

A brother, S/Sgt. Edward Fagner, who is at the Italian front, met Sgt. Fagner in Rome after its fall, and the brothers planned to meet in Paris at the first opportunity. They had previously met once in Italy when they were stationed but fifteen miles apart.

Surviving, besides the parents and brother Edward, are brothers, Sgt. Raymond Fagner in New Guinea; Richard and Wayne at home, Russell of Jefferson township; sisters, Mrs. Gladys Wittkamper of Hobart, Mrs. Viola Borgman of Chicago and Miss Marguerite Fagner of Winamac.

Soldier's Letter

How Robert L. Fagner was baptized before being killed in action in France October 4th is told in this revealing letter written to his brother.

Italy
Feb. 13, 1944

Dear Richard:

Just received forty letters of back mail, but old or new I still enjoy them. But best of all I received Christ as my Savior about five weeks ago. This is how it happened.

You see, I knew we were making a landing somewhere, but it didn't worry me much till we got aboard the ships and were on our way. Then I began to fear what would happen to me if I were to be killed and of the awful place where I would have to spend my life after death. I knew I was on the road to Hell and that if I didn't trust Him then and there it might be too late. You know that the Gospel had been preached to me many times. That fact bothered me a great deal too. As we came within three miles of this Anzio beach head I finally gave in and trusted and believed in Christ. He saved me, and I was baptized later in the Tyrrhenian sea. I know I'm saved for John 3:16, John 5:24 and many other scriptures tell me so.

I don't know what I would do without Him here. Only wonder why I didn't accept the Lord long ago for He certainly is a wonderful Savior to me.

Before I was saved I often wondered how the rest of you that were Christians at home could keep away from the evil things of the world and yet be so happy, but I can see it plainly now. Didn't think I could ever be like that and I wouldn't be had the Lord not saved me.

The Bible is a constant comfort and a means of courage and strength in this awful war. I wish the Christians back home would pray that this war cease. It will end when the Christians have had enough. God is able to put to naught the wisdom of men and bring this slaughter to a close—Trust Him to do so.

Please send me tracts—that I may better understand and lead others to Christ. Many of the boys are reading their Bibles, but do not know Him, whom to know is life eternal. Pray that I may lead many to a saving knowledge of the Lord. So many are lost and life is so uncertain here.

Pray that I may come through these battles in safety so that I can come home, and be a witness for Him there. If that is not His will I'll see you in Heaven some day.

Love in Christ,
ROBERT.

Ordered to capture 2,000 yards of a wooded area, 3rd Division troops ploughed through mud four inches deep to do the job according to an army correspondent.

Sgt. Harry Watson of Winamac, a machine-gun leader, described the action this way.

"We were shivering and soaked but we knew the Krauts were too. A strong-point was ahead. So someone said to yell and keep shooting.

"I heard one guy yell 'Hi ho, Silver, away.' Before we knew it, it was all over."

Results of the action showed a command post wiped out along with one field officer and 34 Germans captured.

Action With Seventh Army in France Told by Winamac Sergeant Now Listed as Killed in Battle

(Editor's Note—Since the following dispatch reached The Democrat, word of Sgt. Harry Watson's death has reached his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rawleigh Watson of Rich Grove township.)

By Pvt. Macy I. Broide.

WITH THE 3RD DIVISION OF THE SEVENTH ARMY, France—

It taken more than bad weather to hold up the American infantry, as a group German prisoners taken on a recent Yank drive learned to their regret.

The 3rd Division doughboys were recently ordered to take 2,000 yards of difficult wooded area for future use, just when the terrain was covered with a layer of mud four inches deep and the air was cold and damp.

"Jerries," said Sgt. Julian Bousard of Youngsville, La., "were sleeping only 100 yards from where we started. We jerked the Krauts out of their holes and kept shoving them to the rear. A total of twelve prisoners were taken on the first attack."

This only whetted the appetite of the men led by T/Sgt. Sorrell Holder of Bay Springs, Miss. They bypassed pockets and uncovered a platoon of enemy mortars, set up and ready—except for the men.

The attack hadn't moved along far before the outfit ran into a well-defended house. "About a hundred rounds from my squad," said Sgt. Garvice McCallum of Bernice, La., "did the trick."

The haul described by two of the gunners, PFC Harold Keller of Pittsburgh, Pa., and PFC Robert Stennard of Staten Island, N.Y., included one flak-wagon, several snipers killed, the surrender of the strong-point. "This," said PFC Keller, "came after one of the Kraut officers fished out a bed sheet and waved it. We found four dead and took twelve more prisoners at the house."

Still, the tired, unshaven and shivering Yanks probed forward and finally climaxed the job by taking a strong-point farther ahead.

Sgt. Harry Watson of Winamac, a machine-gun squad leader, told the story this way.

"We were shivering and soaked but we knew the Krauts were too. A strong-point was ahead. Someone said to yell and keep shooting.

"Everybody just got up and kept going, blazing away and screaming. I heard one guy yell 'Hi ho; Silver, away!' They hollered everything. The Jerries must have thought it was an Army. Bullets spattered, mud all over, but we must have scared most of them. 'Before we knew it, it was all over.'

Results showed up in the prisoner toll from this last objective. Still the men weren't dry. They huddled around small gasoline-wood blazes while the rain continued.

"Those Americans," exclaimed one German prisoner taken in the attack, "were crazy. They would just holler and shoot, holler and shoot. They're crazy!"

Cpl. Vyron Drake of Seminole, Ola, who saw it from the Yank side, described "tired, wet, weary GIs standing and yelling and going after the Jerries just like the movie versions."

The total result of the action: The best part of a Kraut battalion was pocketed, killed or captured; a command post was polished off; Hitler's books, along with one field officer and thirty-four men, who found their way into the cage of the 30th Infantry Regiment.

Ship's Officer Tells Of Raymond Hartle's Death While In Action

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hartle have received the following letter from Capt. Thomas B. Inglis, commanding the U. S. S. Birmingham:

"I presume that long before this letter reaches you, you will have received the official notification of the death of your son, Raymond Lewis Hartle, S 2/c. USNR. Although I realize that there is little that I can say to relieve your sorrow at this sad news, I am taking the liberty of writing this personal note to extend my deepest sympathy and sincere regrets, in which all of his shipmates join me.

"Raymond in his quiet manner and happy ways was a good shipmate. I shall miss him on my ship more than mere words can express.

"Raymond's death was caused by an explosion which occurred while this ship was fighting a fire on one of our aircraft carriers resulting from an enemy bomb.

"His death was instantaneous and without suffering. It is my earnest hope that you will take comfort in the fact that he died as a brave man in the service of his country, not only in the midst of combat with the enemy but also while this ship was on a mission of attempted rescue.

"Your son's remains were buried at sea on 24 October 1944, with appropriate religious burial service conducted by the ship's chaplain, Lt. Comdr. Abbott Peterson Jr., ChC, USNR. Had his funeral been held in the finest cathedral in the United States the attitude of reverence and honor on the part of all his shipmates could not have been greater. In addition to these services a memorial service was held on 4 November 1944, with full military honors and with the entire ship's company in attendance.

"His personal effects have been carefully inventoried and will be shipped as soon as practicable for further delivery to you.

"If there is anything further that any of us can do at any time we are only too anxious to serve you. Please feel free to call upon me.

"Again please be assured of my deepest sympathy in your sorrow, a sorrow which I too share."

Prominent Winamac Man Killed in Action

Message Sunday Reveals
Death of Harry Kocher
In Southwest Pacific

Harry A. Kocher, S.C. 1/c, well known Winamac young man, has been killed in action in the Pacific war theatre. This was the word received Sunday from the Navy department by his wife and parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Kocher, all of Winamac. The news came as a sudden shock to the community, where Harry had spent his entire life and where he was known by a host of friends.

Thirty-six years of age, Petty Officer Kocher had enlisted in the Navy in February of 1942. He was born June 21, 1908, and graduated from Winamac high school in 1926. Prior to his enlistment, he was associated with his father and brother in the Kocher Wholesale Beverage Co.

On September 24, 1942, he was married to Miss Pegge McLaughlin. Soon after that he was as-

Funeral services for PFC Merle Hunt, Pulaski county soldier who lost his life on the Philippines during the late war, are to be held at the Kennedy chapel in Winamac, next Sunday afternoon at 2:30. The body reached here yesterday and now lies in state at Kennedy's.

PFC Hunt was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hunt of the eastern part of Van Buren township. He was born while the family lived near Francesville on Sept. 21, 1922, and entered service in 1942, shortly after his twentieth birthday. It was two years later, on Nov. 19, 1944, that he suffered a fatal wound when caught in an enemy artillery barrage while his company was making its way to support the infantry at Colosian Point, on the Island of Leyte. He was given burial in a temporary cemetery at Carigara.

A graduate of Grass Creek high school, Merle was employed on the Pennsylvania railway before entering service. His basic training was at camps in Texas, and he was sent overseas about four months before the fatal encounter.

Besides the parents, who live east of Thornhope, he leaves two sisters and three brothers—Mrs. Viana Williams of Grand Rapids, Mich., Mary, Nolan, Arthur and Raymond at home.

The services on Sunday will be under auspices of Post-Jones post, Veterans of Foreign Wars. The Rev. O. P. Manker will officiate, and final burial will be in the cemetery at Burnettsville. Mothers of World War No. 2 will hold services at Kennedy's Friday night at eight o'clock.

TWO BROTHERS WILL BE BURIED

Double Memorial Rites Scheduled For Wednesday.

Double memorial services will be conducted at 3 p. m. Wednesday in the Hay funeral home for two brothers, Sergt. Cortlund R.

RICHARD GOOD. CORTLUND GOOD.

Good and Lieut. Richard J. Good, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Forest Good, of 1511 High street, both of whom died in service overseas in world war II.

The bodies will arrive here Tuesday forenoon and will be taken to the Hay funeral home where friends may call after 7 p. m. Tuesday. Rev. R. H. Parker, pastor of Indiana Avenue Christian church, of which both young men were members, will read the rites. Burial will be in Southlawn cemetery where military honors will be accorded by members of South Bend post No. 6, Disabled American Veterans.

Served in Algiers.

Sergt. Cortlund Good was serving with the adjutant general's department with offices in Algiers, North Africa, where he died of meningitis on Oct. 12, 1945. His brother, Lieut. Richard Good was with Company A, 67th armored division, 14th armored division, in France, where he was wounded in action on Nov. 25, 1944 and died on Nov. 26.

Sergt. Good was born in South Bend Oct. 24, 1911, attended Studebaker school, and was graduated from Riley High school in June, 1932. He was graduated from Indiana University, Bloomington, in 1937, and attended Wittenburg college, Springfield, O., and the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. Returning to South Bend he taught French, English and music in Riley High school from 1937 until he was inducted into military service June 28, 1941. He trained at Fort Sill, Okla., and went overseas in June, 1943.

Graduated From Riley.

Lieut. Good also was born in South Bend, on March 14, 1920, attended Studebaker school and was graduated from Riley in 1938. He attended the University of Illinois, at Champaign, where he was graduated in January, 1943. He played football both for Riley and the university.

He was inducted into the army on Feb. 12, 1943 and trained at Fort Knox, Ky., Camp Chaffee, Ark., and Camp Campbell, Ky. He was married at the Kentucky camp in 1944 to Jeanne Duncan, who now is Mrs. John Wrenn, of East Moline, Ill. He went overseas on October, 1944.

The young men are survived by their parents and a brother, Dr. Wesley Good, of South Bend. Lieut. Good also leaves a daughter, Richey J. Good, of East Moline.

Wife Learns Soldier Is Killed by Sniper

In answer to her request for further information regarding the death of her husband, Pvt. Emil R. Piazza, Mrs. Helen Shearer Piazza of Winamac received a letter from the War Department which said in part:

"The report states that Private Piazza was instantly killed by an enemy sniper on November 29, 1944, in the vicinity of Merten, France, while placing his machine gun to help relieve pressure on a rifle company."

Mrs. Piazza, who makes her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Shearer, recently received the Purple Heart, awarded posthumously to her husband.

Silver Star Medal Is Presented at Ceremonies Sunday

The Silver Star, which has been posthumously awarded PFC Emil R. Piazza, was presented to his wife, Mrs. Helen M. Piazza of Winamac, at a special ceremony at Fort Benjamin Harrison Sunday afternoon. The medal was awarded PFC Piazza by direction of the President for gallantry in action against the enemy on November 20, 1944.

"When a German counter-attack lunged savagely and threatened to destroy his company's position, PFC Piazza, with his squad leader, set up a machine gun on ground enveloped by German shelling and delivered a terrible enfilade on the assaulting enemy. Lethal fire from his boldly emplaced machine gun inflicted such heavy casualties that the Germans were compelled to withdraw. The heroic conduct of PFC Piazza, who was killed in action on November 29, 1944, reflects lasting honor on him and exemplifies the highest traditions of the military service."

The young man was inducted at Fort Harrison on August 8, 1942. He received training at Camp Swift, Texas, Los Angeles, Calif., and Indiantown Gap, Pa., before going overseas in August, 1944.

Others attending the ceremony were Mrs. Piazza's mother, Mrs. Ernest Shearer, sisters, Donna Lee and Joan, brother Ernest, and uncle Vincent Smith, all of Winamac.

PARENTS RECEIVE DETAILS ON SON'S DEATH IN BELGIUM

Details of the drowning of their son, Jesse F. Vories on Dec. 25 in Belgium have been received by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Vories, of route 1, Burnettsville, in a letter from his commanding officer, Capt. Alf O. Trulson.

The letter follows:

"It is my unpleasant duty to inform you of the death of an excellent soldier, your son, T/4 Jesse F. Vories. He was under my command from April 4, 1943, and I have always found him to be thoughtful, considerate, clean, and obedient.

"Jesse was riding in the rear of a truck on Christmas day when the road caved in, causing the truck to overturn into a canal. The accident was observed by other members of this unit, thus enabling immediate action on extracting him from the truck.

"Unfortunately the water was extremely cold and the combined effects of shock and submersion made all efforts to revive him through artificial respiration and other means of no avail. His friends gave him artificial respiration tirelessly for three hours and ceased only when advised to do so by army medical doctors.

"Capt. V. C. Buttermore, a chaplain of Protestant faith, officiated at the ceremony which was held in Belgium. A military formation was held by this company in honor of your son. Jesse was well liked by all his comrades and was held in their highest esteem.

"His grave is located in Belgium and due to censorship regulations an exact location cannot be given at this time; however, the War department will inform you as to the location at the earliest moment."

From Ireland

I would like to write something that would help in the bond drive, but hardly know what to say that will pass the censor.

Have now been in the Army three years, most of that time overseas. And I am not the only one from good old Pulaski county. There are a lot of the boys, here in the same organization with me, who came in the same day I did. And we are all trying to do our part.

But how can we do our part without help from the folks back there in the good old U. S. A.? I know — they can buy War Bonds. All of us boys over here are buying bonds, and I know that the folks back there have been buying bonds, too. But they must keep on buying more of them. Maybe they can't see what good they are doing when they buy a bond, but I can say this much — if they were over here in a pair of G. I. shoes, they sure would know. We can see just what things are here. And I don't mean maybe. If only you folks over there knew how things are over here.

Of course, it isn't so bad here where I am, but there are a lot of places not as good as Northern Ireland. This is the third place overseas that my organization has been in, and God only knows where else it may be sent before it comes back home again. We all had hopes of coming back at one time, but now we don't even think of it.

Soldier Letters

Dear Folks —

Haven't had time to write outside of the card. We have been moved around quite a bit. All the companies are split up here and they are around airplane factories. We are on a hill across from one plant. We are digging trenches to the 37mm. guns and ammunition boxes and to our dugouts. We sleep in three airplane motor boxes put together with bunks built in. There are eight of us sleeping in a room about seven feet wide and twelve feet long. There is not even room to turn around in. We are putting guns on the hill and they are building barracks for us.

They haul us about three miles from here in trucks to eat every day and also drive us over to another place to take a shower. We work all day and stand guard two hours every night.

They are sure getting ready for invasion here. They don't intend to be surprised. Every place you look you can see guards and guns. They even have machine guns on the roofs of the airplane factories. We have a machine gun down by the road and no cars are allowed to stop at all. Streets going past the plant are closed and sand bagged.

Haven't had a pass yet, but I think we new fellows will get ours about the last of the week. Passes are only good for six hours now. Well, this is about all I can think of now. If you have written, I haven't got the letter yet, but probably will tomorrow as some of the fellows' mail came in today from the other address that I sent you.

Would like to hear from some of the fellows, but haven't had time yet, so if any of them ask give them my address and tell them to write and I will write later on.

From the Aleutians

At an outpost like this, our only source of supplies is by boat, weather permitting. This makes our mails very slow. By the time I get the county paper it is a month old.

I have noticed that the sale of war bonds hasn't been so very good sometimes, and I am wondering what attitude people take toward the war. Are they getting used to it, and pass it off as one of those things that will wear itself out some time?

From the North Pacific to the South Pacific our boys are buying all the bonds they can possibly afford, besides giving their service and possibly their lives to their country. So it seems to me that the least people at home could do is to back them up with war bonds.

I have now been isolated from civilization for nearly two years, most of that in the dreary, wind-swept and fog-bound Aleutians. I know that the boys here are buying lots of bonds every payday, hoping that it will hasten the day that they can get back to civilization again. Some day the boys will be coming home from the battle fronts of the world, looking for jobs to help pay for the peace and democracy they fought for.

Back the bucks with bonds.
PFC HAROLD MCKINLEY.

Winamac Girl's Husband Listed Missing in Action

S/Sgt. Verne Trinosky of North Judson, whose wife is the former Miss Burnice Kopkey of Winamac, is reported missing in action in a flight over Greece. The message came Sunday by telegram to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Trinosky of North Judson. He is a tail gunner on a bomber.

There were rumors around Winamac to the effect that Mrs. Trinosky had received later word of her husband's death, but she informs The Democrat that no information of any kind has come except the report that he is missing.

Winamac Man Reported Missing In Greece Raid

WINAMAC, Ind. — Staff Sgt. Verne E. Trinosky, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Trinosky, of North Judson, has been reported missing in action during a raid over Greece instead of "killed in action" as previously reported.

Sergeant Trinosky, a tail gunner on a B-24 bomber, has been missing since January 11, the War Department message said. The missing man's wife, the former Burnice Kopkey, lives in Winamac.

Logansport (IN) Pharos-Tribune 3 Feb 1944: 5.

A small V-Mail letter brought to Mrs. Bernice Trinoskey, an employee of the Kruger Grocery, the best wedding anniversary present she could have—a letter from her husband, Sgt. Verne Trinoskey, who was reported missing after an aerial action over Greece January 11. The couple's first wedding anniversary is tomorrow, (Friday).

"What I really want you to know is that I am all right. Just shaken up a little and excited about being back in good hands again," the letter said, adding "by the time you receive this I should be well on my way back to the states."

The letter was the first word Mrs. Trinoskey had received since the War Department reported her husband missing.

Casually, in the latter part of the letter, Sgt. Trinoskey said, "If this sounds like a very poor letter you will just have to excuse me, as it is the first time I have written since my escape."

No other details of the escape were given, but it is presumed that Sgt. Trinoskey parachuted to safety and then managed to escape capture through the efforts of friendly Greeks.

Gunner Escapes From Nazi-Held Territory

S/Sgt. Verne Trinoskey arrived in Winamac Monday night to spend a twenty-day furlough with his wife and with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Trinoskey of North Judson. He expects to go from here to Miami, Fla., and will be accompanied by his wife, who was Miss Burnice Kopkey before their marriage. He reached the States Saturday, flying from Casablanca, Africa.

Sgt. Trinoskey was listed as missing in action January 11, when his plane collided with another on a mission over Greece. He was one of three men who parachuted to safety, although he was wounded by flak before reaching the ground. He was cared for by friendly natives of the Nazi-held territory and eighty-nine days later escaped to an Allied base. He is under oath not to tell of his experiences until after the war.

Pvt. Harold C. Kripisch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kripisch of Medaryville, has been awarded the Silver Star for bravery and conduct during a battle in Italy. A recent report said: On February 11 and 14, 1944, as an automatic rifleman, he fought with his company against an enemy counterattack on a hill position. As the assault became more threatening, he moved from his position to an exposed place subject to intense enemy artillery and mortar fire, because it offered a better field of fire for his weapon. He fired so accurately and rapid that the enemy was forced to withdraw from his sector. Again the enemy attacked, this time sneaking close to his position and attempting to blast him out with hand grenades. He countered with rifle fire, killing and wounding so many enemy that they were again forced to withdraw.

Stray Newspaper In South Pacific Saviors of Home

From somewhere in the Southwest Pacific comes an interesting story of a stray newspaper falling into the hands of an Army officer whose parents formerly lived in the county where the paper was printed.

The circumstance is related in a V-mail letter to Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Horner of Winamac. Their nephew, Capt. James B. Warriner, wrote under date of March 23, 1944:

"As I was leading my company on a hike this morning, I noticed a paper lying in the road. I passed it by, but one of the men picked it up. Soon I heard someone say, 'Pulaski county, Indiana.' So I took over the newspaper and found it to be the Pulaski County Democrat of January 6, 1944. It was interesting to find Don Guild's name and to note Aunt Mame's re-election to the publicity post of the saddle club. When I returned to camp I looked up a Winamac native in a nearby outfit, Pvt. Joseph (Tony) Snyder, and gave him the paper. What he wonders is: Who down here dropped the newspaper on the road?"

Captain Warriner is a son of the Rev. and Mrs. W. B. Warriner of Michigantown, Ind. The Rev. Mr. Warriner was pastor of the Medaryville Methodist church in 1905 to 1907, and Mrs. Warriner is the former Miss Emma Guild of Medaryville, sister of Mrs. Horner, and at one time a Winamac teacher. The young officer was an Indianapolis physician before entering a medical battalion in the Army. His present location is not known here, but a previous letter stated that he was then in Australia, and this letter is marked SWPA (Southwest Pacific Area).

One of the more exasperating phases of life in war time was the experience Sunday of Mrs. Guy Hall and her daughter-inlaw, Mrs. Pauline Hall. C-M John Hall, on duty with the Navy at Pearl Harbor, called his wife and mother by telephone. Scarcely had greetings been exchanged when the censor interrupted with directions about what to say and in the end he occupied more of the allotted time than John did.

The following interesting letter from Jack Russell to Velma Long comes from China.

Dear Velma:

Since last writing you I've seen quite a bit of the world—South Africa, India and finally China. I know you're wondering if I saw our mutual friend Gandhi. Well, no, but I did see evidence of his work everywhere I turned. Kasturbha Gandhi died while I was there and a large proportion of the shops in the city closed on her account.

But I really like China much better, except that India is a much easier place in which to buy foreign goods. My salary here amounts to about $15,000 a month although the U.S.-China official rate of exchange is 20 to 1, the black market here, which we G.I.'s patronize, gives us about 230 to 1. But inflation keeps us from being rich. I wanted a bottle of Quink the other day—$10,000? Naturally it's much worse on those things that are made outside of China, since importation is impossible now for anything except war materials and Chinese dollars (which are printed in the U.S.). Since arriving overseas I've discovered I'm really in the Air Force. Practically all my traveling has been via airplane. In fact, the thrill of riding in a plane has gone.

In China our major means of private transportation is via rickshaw. At first it rather hurt my conscience to be carted about in such a way, but the coolies don't seem to mind it. In fact all the people are a pretty happy lot. They really like the Yanks and go out of their way to make us comfortable. The Chinese government furnishes our hostels, our servants and takes care of our laundry. Our particular hostel has a Christian Chinese manager, educated at an American-Methodist university in China. He's a splendid fellow and speaks English quite fluently. He's giving us Chinese lessons 3 times a week.

Sunday (Palm Sunday) we had some missionaries from the city to conduct services. So far we have no chaplin.

Did I ever thank you for the note in the autograph book the kids at the store sent? I'm afraid I couldn't quite make out the Latin exhortation. Does that discourage you after trying for 3 years to teach me Latin? Right now most of my Latin consists of legal and ecclesiastical terms.

I've got a Josephine Culbertson book now and am striving to improve my contract bridge, so watch out when I come home.

I'm not flattery when I say you write some of the most interesting letters of all my correspondents. Don't write V-mail when you write. Use air mail. It's much faster and more enjoyable.

Give my love to Vera and all the kids. Love, Jack.

Former Local Sailor Tells Feelings in War

Virgil Earl Russell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Russell of Jackson, Mich., formerly of Pulaski county, has been in the Navy for three years. He was born in Ripley, attended school in Star City and graduated from Royal Center high school in 1939. Much of his time in the Navy has been spent at sea. During his first trip out he wrote the following letter:

Dear Mom:

This letter may never be delivered to you. It will go to New York and many other places before you receive it.

About the war I can say nothing, only that I am proud to be a part of the fight that is being made over here, and would not, even if it were possible, leave the service until this damn war is over and won.

I have seen some horrible things happen, but I have seen some wonderful acts of courage, sacrifice and loyalty. At least, I have found that job which I have searched for all my life—a cause and a job in which I can lose myself completely and to which I can give every ounce of my strength and mind. I have mentally and spiritually conquered my fear of death. My prayer each night and morning is that God will send you, who are suffering so much more than I, His strength and peace.

During the past few months I have been a part of the most unselfish, co-operative efforts that have ever been made by a group of individuals. Mistakes have been made, but that has nothing to do with the manner in which my shipmates have reacted to their trial by fire. If the same spirit were devoted to world betterment in time of peace, what a good world we would have.

The purpose of this letter is to send you my love for just being my family. My prayer is not of myself but of you, and people like you. Remember, if we don't win this war, we will always be fighting. Nothing matters but winning this war. If we don't win it, nothing matters.

Your son, VIRGIL.

Sgt. Norman S. Thompson is a soldier mail clerk in the Ninth Base Postoffice in the Mediterranean theater, according to recent press release from Major Raymond D. Ferguson, the post office's commanding officer in Allied headquarters in that area. Sgt. Thompson's wife lives in the Winamac vicinity.

According to Maj. Ferguson, Sgt. Thompson and his fellow workers have handled approximately twenty-five million letters during one year of overseas operation.

The report stated that fifty per cent of the mail the office handles currently is V-mail while air mail consumes thirty per cent and ordinary letters twenty per cent.

"For speed in delivery, V-mail is consistently the fastest," said Maj. Ferguson, "It takes from eleven to thirteen days for it to arrive here from the States, while it takes from twenty-one to twenty-five days, as a rule, for regular mail. Now and then an air mail letter will arrive in four days but in the long run it takes longer than V-mail."

Marine from Indiana Writes Of 'Tokio Tillie'

(Gilbert P. Bailey, formerly editor of the Delphi Citizen, is now a sergeant in the marines and is listed as a combat correspondent for that branch of the armed service. He writes the following interesting story from the Marshall Islands.)

A Japanese woman radio commentator, known to U. S. Marines as "Tokio Tillie," is Bob Hope's chief rival among radio fans in these desolate Marshall Islands.

To all soldiers, sailors and marines who have set foot on Japanese-mandated territory, "Tillie" broadcasts nightly her dire accounts of current American "disasters" in the Marshalls and her terrible predictions of America's eventual downfall.

Broadcasts From Tokio.

A female Japanese counterpart of Germany's "Lord Haw-Haw," she is the only Jap commentator who has captured the imagination of the men who fought here.

"Tokio Tillie" broadcasts from Radio Tokio in good corn-belt English, without Nipponese accent. About dusk each evening her audience gathers to hear what "Tillie" has to say.

When "Tillie" speaks in generalities, she talks of "great surprises in store for the United States" or "Japan's golden opportunity to deal America a crushing blow."

Sometimes she commentates directly to the American fighting men now on Japanese territory:

"All the Marines who attacked the Marshall Islands have been killed," announced "Tillie" a few days after the operation. (U. S. Marines suffered an estimated 565 casualties, killed and wounded, in the attack by combined United States forces against the Marshall Islands.)

Promises Jap "Air Fleet."

"Sixty thousand Marines already have been killed," says "Tillie" in a clear, pleasant voice that reminds every home-sick boy of the girls back home.

No one knows who "Tillie" is or where she learned to talk like a girl from the American middle-west. But "Tokio Tillie" is fast becoming a nostalgic character, regarded with mingled curiosity and amusement.

Last night she gave us a final warning:

"If the Marines do not leave the Marshall Islands in four days," she said, "Japan will send the largest air fleet ever . . ."

PFC Lawrence Pugh, with the Marine Corps in the Pacific war theatre, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Pugh of Winamac, has been awarded the Silver Star medal and the Purple Heart award for wounds sustained in the action which won the young Marine the medal. The following citation from Headquarters Fleet Marine Force, Pacific, describes the service rendered by PFC Pugh:

"For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity in action against enemy forces on Saipan, Marianas Islands, on June 22, 1944, while serving in a Marine Infantry battalion. While on patrol duty behind enemy lines, PFC Pugh's squad was pinned down by enemy machine gun fire. He unhesitatingly, with complete disregard for his own safety, scaled a steep cliff despite enemy fire, and knocked out a protected observation post with anti-tank grenades. Although wounded during the action, PFC Pugh silenced all enemy action. His outstanding devotion to duty and aggressive fighting spirit were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

Another son of the Pughs, T/Sgt. Arthur W. Pugh, is now in a hospital in France, suffering from pneumonia. In a letter written March 4, he told his parents he was getting along all right.

Announcement has been made by the war department that Captain Robert L. Hetzel of Long Beach, Cal., grandson of Mrs. Etta Hoch, was recently commended as a member of a United States Army Air Force troop carrier which carried hundreds of parachute troops to Sicily the night of July 9 without losing a single transport plane. He received an Air Medal, an Oak Leaf cluster and a Presidential citation. He is a graduate of Long Beach high school and attended Oregon university. He is at present on furlough in Cairo, Egypt.

Mrs. Etta Hoch has received word of the promotion of her grandson, now Major R. F. Hetzel, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Hetzel of Long Beach, Cal., and former Winamac residents. Major Hetzel is a veteran of 2000 hours in the air, and one time was personal pilot for General George Patton and General Mark Clark. He piloted the second transport plane to land in North Africa, and landed the first ship on two airfields in Tunisia and Algeria that were taken from the Germans. He was later assigned to India, and flew the "hump" into China for three months. He has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters, the American Defense Ribbon, the American Campaign Ribbon with four stars, and the Southwest Pacific Theatre Ribbon with one star, each star representing action in a major campaign. He received his wings four days after Pearl Harbor, was commissioned in June, 1942, and made Captain in the following August when he flew to England. He is now serving in Rome as Operational Officer.

Quartet Meets In South Pacific

How four Pulaski county fighting men held a reunion in far away New Guinea, was related in a 20-page letter received this week by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dickensheets of Winamac from their son, Sgt. Richard Dickensheets.

The sergeant was in New Guinea hospital recovering from a broken ankle suffered in-line of duty and also with fever.

While lying in the hospital, he noticed a couple of soldiers who passed by frequently and who looked familiar.

He called them over one day and found one was James Abbott from Star City and the other was a Strand boy from Monterey. They all had a visit and then called on Don Marquis, another Pulaski county boy.

Sgt. Dickensheets has recovered from his injury and is now back on duty, according to his letter.

"You're a Rotten Driver, But You're Still from Winamac"

The scene is a crooked mountain road in Sicily.

Two U. S. Army trucks, moving in opposite directions, come within a hair of crashing into each other on a sharp curve.

Both drivers leap to the ground, each ready to beat the other up, or at least to bawl out the other dirty so-and-so for driving too near the middle of the narrow road.

There is blood in their eyes as they approach. But anger vanishes as quickly as it came. For, standing face to face on the Italian mountain side are two lads from Winamac, Indiana — Bob Strasser and Arlis FRAIN.

A good half-hour visit takes the place of the prospective fight — and nobody mad at anybody.

From Italy

Uncle Sam didn't forget us on Thanksgiving. We had turkey and all the trimmings. Everyone sure enjoyed it, as we get very few meals with fresh meat. I don't know what Christmas will bring. I hope it's snow. The mud and rain here are kind of bad on my morale. It hasn't been so very cold yet, though. Jack Frost has visited us twice.

The boys don't kick too much, though, for there are plenty of people here wading in mud and water barefoot. I can't see how some of them can possibly live. Many of them are homeless, hardly any clothes, and very little to eat. I was talking to a man who has a wife and four children. All they have been eating was nuts and figs. All of these people, from the smallest to the oldest, know what war is.

I'd like to see some of those gripers back home take their place for just one day. Most people in America don't know what war is.

Notes About Home Folks in Armed Forces

Winamac Sergeant Is Awarded Medal for Meritorious Service

A bronze star medal for meritorious service has been awarded M/Sgt. Robert Strasser. It was revealed in a letter received this week by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Strasser of Winamac.

The citation explains the award in these words: "Sergeant Strasser, platoon sergeant of a construction company, led and co-ordinated the operations of his platoon so that it was able to furnish consistently successful wire circuits from Army to its advance units during both the Sicilian and Italian campaigns, despite the varied obstacles presented by the enemy and terrain. Disregarding his own personal safety, he led the clearing of mine fields and the construction of temporary river fords, thus enabling the construction of vital communications lines in a minimum of time."

M/Sgt. Strasser entered service three years ago last February, and has been overseas for nearly two years. He is in an armored signal battalion, and in his last letter expressed the opinion that "we are now beginning to see our way out." The letter was postmarked in France.

Two other sons of Mr. and Mrs. Strasser are in service. Wayne is an instructor at Aberdeen, Md., and Richard is about to complete his course at Great Lakes Naval station.

"Sergeant Strasser," the citation continued, "platoon sergeant of a construction company, disregarding his own personal safety, led the clearing of mine fields and the construction of temporary river fords, thus enabling the construction of vital communication lines in a minimum of time." . . . during both the Sicilian and Italian campaigns.

Winamac Sergeant Selected as 'Soldier of Month' at Ft. Monmouth

M/Sgt. Robert E. Strasser, a wire division instructor in the signal school at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., was selected as the outstanding soldier of the month, a monthly award honoring a soldier for his scholastic standards, exemplary performance of duty, superior military bearing and knowledge and fidelity of purpose.

The twenty-nine-year-old Army veteran from Winamac, will receive a commendation from Maj. Gen. Francis H. Lanahan, Post Commanding General, a three-day tour of New York City over the weekend and will review the troops in the next garrison parade.

Sgt. Strasser, with nine years of Army service, is assigned to an instructor company. To date he has conducted seventy-four classes in the signal school.

During the war, Sgt. Strasser served in the European theatre for three years, where he was decorated with five battle stars and an arrowhead. He was awarded the bronze star for clearing landmines and establishing river crossings through the Italian campaign.

Prior to entering the Army, Sgt. Strasser attended Winamac high school and was employed for three years as a power lineman for the Municipal Light & Water Works.

While in New York, he will be joined by three other honor soldiers from Fort Jay, Fort Dix and Fort Hamilton. Their tour will include radio interviews, television shows, meeting the press and social items.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Strasser of Winamac, is married and has three children.

With Ernie Pyle at the Front

Trapped 8 Days in Plane, Ace Lives and Grins

Courageous Allies See War at Its Worst and Carry On

By Ernie Pyle

ON THE WESTERN FRONT.—When you're wandering around our very far-flung front lines—the lines that in our present rapid war are known as "fluid"—you can always tell how recently the battle has swept on ahead of you.

You can sense it from the little things even more than the big things—

From the scattered green leaves and the fresh branches of trees still lying in the middle of the road.

From the wisps and coils of telephone wire, hanging brokenly from high poles and entwining across the roads.

From the gray, burned-powder rims of the shell craters in the gravel roads, their edges not yet smoothed by the pounding of military traffic.

From the little pools of blood on the roadside, blood that has only begun to congeal and turn black, and the punctured steel helmets nearby.

From the square blocks of building stone still scattered in the village streets, and from the sharp-edged rocks in the roads, still uncrossed by traffic.

From the burned-out tanks and broken carts still unremoved from the road. From the cows in the fields, lying grotesquely with their feet to the sky, so newly dead they have not begun to bloat or smell.

From the scattered heaps of personal debris around a gun. I don't know why it is, but the Germans always seem to take off their coats before they flee or die.

From all these things you can tell that the battle has been recent—from these and from the men dead so recently that they seem to be merely asleep.

And also from the inhuman quiet. Usually battles are noisy for miles around. But in this recent fast warfare a battle sometimes leaves a complete vacuum behind it.

The Germans will stand and fight it out until they see there is no hope. Then some give up, and the rest pull and run for miles. Shooting stops. Our fighters move on after the enemy, and those who do not fight, but move in the wake of the battles, will not catch up for hours.

There is nothing left behind but the remains—the lifeless debris, the sunshine and the flowers, and utter silence.

Ernie Pyle

An amateur who wanders in this vacuum at the rear of a battle has a terrible sense of loneliness. Everything is dead—the men, the machines, the animals—and you alone are left alive.

One afternoon we drove in our jeep into a country like that. The little rural villages of gray stone were demolished—heartbreaking heaps of still smoking rubble.

We drove into the tiny town of La Detinels, a sweet old stone village at the "T" of two gravel roads, a rural village in rolling country, a village of not more than 50 buildings. There was not a whole building left.

Rubble and broken wires still littered the streets. Blackish gray stone walls with no roofs still smoldered inside. Dead men still lay in the street, helmets and broken rifles askew around them. There was not a soul nor a sound in town; the village was lifeless.

As we stood there talking in the lonely field a soldier in coveralls, with a rifle slung over his shoulder, ran up breathlessly, and almost shouted:

"Hey, there's a man alive in one of those planes across the road! He's been trapped there for days!"

We stopped right in the middle of a sentence and began to run. We hopped the hedgerow, and ducked under the wing of the upside-down plane. And there, in the next hour, came the climax to what certainly was one of the really great demonstrations of courage in this war.

We ran to the wrecked British plane, lying there upside down, and dropped on our hands and knees and peeked through a tiny hole in the side.

A man lay on his back in the small space of the upside-down cockpit. His feet disappeared somewhere in the jumble of dials and rubber pedals above him. His shirt was open and his chest was bare to the waist. He was smoking a cigarette.

He turned his eyes toward me when I peeked in, and he said in a typical British manner or offhand friendliness, "Oh, hello."

"Are you all right?" I asked, stupidly.

He answered, "Yes, quite. Now that you chaps are here."

I asked him how long he had been trapped in the wrecked plane. He said he didn't know for sure as he had got mixed up about the passage of time. But he did know the date of the month he was shot down. He told me the date. And I said out loud, "Good God!"

For, wounded and trapped, he had been lying there for eight days!

His left leg was broken and punctured by an ack-ack burst. His back was terribly burned by raw gasoline that had spilled. The foot of his injured leg was pinned rigidly under the rudder bar.

His space was so small he couldn't squirm around to relieve his own weight from his aching back. He couldn't straighten out his legs, which were bent above him. He couldn't see out of his little prison. He had not had a bite to eat or a drop of water. All this for eight days and nights.

Yet when we found him his physical condition was strong, and his mind was as calm and rational as though he were sitting in a London club. He was in agony, yet in his correct Oxford accent he even apologized for taking up our time in getting him out.

The American soldiers of our rescue party cussed as they worked, cussed with open admiration for this British flier's greatness of heart which had kept him alive and sane through his lonely and gradually hope-dimming ordeal.

One of them said, "God, but these Limies have got guts!"

It took us almost an hour to get him out. We don't know whether he will live or not, but he has a chance. During the hour we were ripping the plane open to make a hole, he talked to us. And here, in the best nutshell I can devise from the conversation of a brave man whom you didn't want to badger with trivial questions, is what happened—

He was an RAF flight lieutenant, piloting a night fighter. Over a certain area the Germans began letting him have it from the ground with machine-gun fire.

The first hit knocked out his motor. He was too low to jump, so—foolishly, he said—he turned on his lights to try a crash landing. Then they really poured it on him. The second hit got him in the leg. And a third bullet cut right across the balls of his right-hand forefingers, clipping every one of them to the bone.

He left his wheels up, and the plane's belly hit the ground going uphill on a slight slope. We could see the groove it had dug for about 50 yards. Then it flopped, tail over nose, onto its back. The pilot was absolutely sealed into the upside-down cockpit.

"That's all I remember for a while," he told us. "When I came to, they were shelling all around me."

Thus began the eight days. He had crashed right between the Germans and Americans in a sort of pastoral no-man's-land.

For days afterwards the field in which he lay surged back and forth between German hands and ours.

His pasture was pocked with hundreds of shell craters. Many of them were only yards away. One was right at the end of his wing. The metal sides of the plane were speckled with hundreds of shrapnel holes.

He lay there, trapped in the midst of this inferno of explosions. The fields around him gradually became littered with dead. At last American strength pushed the Germans back, and silence came. But no help. Because, you see, it was in that vacuum behind the battle, and only a few people were left.

GI Wounded Never Give Up

The days passed. He thirsted terribly. He slept some; part of the time he was unconscious; part of the time he undoubtedly was delirious. But he never gave up hope.

After we had finally got him out, he said as he lay on the stretcher under a wing, "Is it possible that I've been out of this plane since I crashed?"

Everybody chuckled. The doctor who had arrived said, "Not the remotest possibility. You were sealed in there and it took men with tools half an hour to make an opening. And your leg was broken and your foot was pinned there. No, you haven't been out."

"I didn't think it was possible," the pilot said, "and yet it seems in my mind that I was out once and back in again."

Doctor Related Here Writes Sequel To Ernie Pyle Story

The story of a British flyer who was trapped in a wrecked plane for eight days—and still living when discovered by rescuers—is graphically related by Ernie Pyle in his column on page six of this paper.

When Pyle wrote his article, he stated that "we don't know whether he will live or not, but he has a chance."

A letter which reached Winamac this week reveals that the pilot's life was saved.

The letter was written by Capt. Donald J. Caseley, who is an orthopedist in the U. S. Army medical corps and is now stationed in England. The pilot was among the scores of wounded men brought daily to the hospital with which Dr. Caseley is connected, and it fell to his lot to care for the flier's broken leg.

The doctor's wife is the former Miss Bess Gorrell, who is now making her home in Winamac. It was she who received the letter, in which was mentioned the same pilot whom Ernie Pyle had written about.

"The subject of the column was a patient of mine and a very interesting and swell guy," wrote the doctor. "Every word about his modesty, reticence and courage is more than true. He not only 'probably will survive' but will probably fly again, or I can't judge patients' conditions."

Ambulance Driver Wins Bronze Star for Heroic Service in France

Pvt. Donald R. Strong, son of Mrs. Katherine Strong of Thornhope, has been awarded the Bronze Star for heroic service in France, according to a report to The Democrat from the commanding general of the Eighteenth Infantry division. Pvt. Strong is in a medical battalion of the Army. The report said:

"During the period September 12 to September 15, Pvt. Strong distinguished himself by his conduct as a driver. At this time, while the division was engaged in operations connected with a river crossing, it was impossible to evacuate casualties either by ambulance or litter because of heavy enemy artillery and mortar fire. With utter disregard for his own safety, he volunteered to attempt evacuation with a litter one-quarter ton truck and for a period of thirty-six hours worked without relief in the evacuation of casualties. At all times, Pvt. Strong was subject to enemy fire and finally was wounded seriously by shell fragments. His heroism in action and unselfish devotion to duty are in keeping with the finest traditions of the armed forces of the United States."

Pvt. Strong entered the Army in March, 1943. He attended Thornhope and Star City schools.

The Distinguished Flying Cross has been awarded to Sgt. Lester J. Wilcox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wilcox of the Denham vicinity, "for extraordinary achievement while participating in aerial flights over enemy held territory in northern Burma, totaling more than two hundred hours." According to the report The Democrat received from headquarters of the India-Burma sector, the citation reads in part: "In the face of intense enemy opposition, adverse weather and poor topographical conditions, these men flew supplies, ammunition and heavy equipment, and were therefore highly instrumental in the successes of the Allied Forces in this sector. This display of devotion to duty and a degree of efficiency above and beyond that normally expected reflects great credit upon themselves and the Army Air Forces of the United States."

Pfc. Charles W. Jolly, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Jolly, 700 Helm street, and Pvt. James Gregory, 20, son of Mrs. Rose Gregory of Minor street, are home on furlough after returning to the United States from Italy on the same boat.

Jolly was wounded on the left knee cap by German shrapnel last May 25 at Cisterna while he was firing an anti-tank gun in the drive on Rome. He had another narrow escape on Feb. 28 when the ship upon which he traveled to the Anzio beachhead was hit. The man on one side of him was killed and the man on the other side was wounded.

Jolly is here on convalescent furlough from Billings general hospital at Indianapolis, where he has been a patient. He has the Purple Heart and Good Conduct medals. In the army 14 months, he was in Italy seven months.

A brother, Pfc. Harold Jolly, 20, a member of the armored infantry, was killed in action at Brest, France, on July 16. He has two other brothers in the service, Sgt. Edward Jolly, in France, and Ensign Frank Jolly, in the navy on an attack transport vessel.

Private Gregory spent five months with B-25 bomber squadron on Corsica. An armorer, he wears the Good Conduct medal and a Presidential Citation for bombing in southern France.

He has been in the army a year and a half and overseas 6 months. He will go to Lincoln, Neb., at the expiration of his furlough.

He and Jolly attended Washington school together.

Picked up by medics after lying six hours in a creek bed in Italy, Private Charles Jolly was transported down the creek, which medics were using as the safest route back to the aid station. Private Jolly, an anti-tank grenadier, was hit by shrapnel from a German 88 during a tank battle while his company was fighting near Cisterna on the way to Rome. He also fought in Sicily and Anzio. He has the purple heart award and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter D. Jolly of Logansport. Two brothers, Ensign Frank John Jolly and Sgt. Edward Peter D. Jolly, are serving in the armed forces. Another brother, Private First Class Harold Joseph Jolly, was killed in action at Brest on June 16.

County Men Are Members of Hard Fighting Division

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Pugh received a letter this week from their son, T/Sgt. Arthur Pugh, in which he enclosed a copy of the war record of the Fourth Armored Division, including T/Sgt. Pugh, Lt. Albin Shank, S/Sgt. Ralph Miller, T/5 Ernest Clouser and S/Sgt. Philip Brucker. The last two named have suffered wounds and Sgt. Brucker is now in the hospital at Fort Benjamin Harrison.

The War Department disclosed that the Fourth Division spearheaded the 3rd Army advance across France. After landing in Normandy on D-Day, it went on to cut off Brittany peninsula and was identified with the hardest fighting in the liberation of France.

The division was credited with smashing 400 enemy tanks, 140 large artillery pieces, 1500 miscellaneous vehicles, and taking 15,000 prisoners, all at relatively low cost to itself. It destroyed the Nazi 77th, 91st, 243rd infantry divisions, the 6th paratroop division and the 281st cavalry battalion. The Germans regarded the men of the Fourth Armored as "Super-men."

The reaction of a German Colonel of shock troops is typical. The Nazi officer, captured by the Fourth, said, "Having been a commander of army units in Russia, I must admit that the American troops are not only equipped with the best material, but what strikes me especially is the excellance of organization under which these men now function. I would be pleased to know the commander of this division."

The Germans described the Fourth as the American Elite Fourth Armored Division and Fourth Panzer, and called the men "ruthless fighters. The unit, commanded by Maj. Gen. John S. Wood, served as part of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army.

Hair-raising tales of naval battle in the Pacific were relayed to Pulaski county this week by men in the thick of the fighting.

In a letter to his father, Milo Hair, Seaman 1-C Donald R. Hair reported "I was in the Philippine Islands where we bombarded the beaches of Leyte Island. Don't think the Japs can't shoot because they can, with accuracy.

After the bombardment we intercepted the Jap fleet. We made torpedo runs on their big ships. That's where the big explosions came. The torpedoes knocked them sky high.

There were Jap survivors all over the place. The oil was thick on the water from their ships that were sunk. The monkey-faced creatures were trying to swim through the oil and they looked like black balls bobbing around in the water.

"We were at our battle stations almost continuously for five days. Jap planes came day and night. Dad, I'm very thankful that all of this has passed and I came through with a big smile on my face. Ha!"

PLANE TOURISTS ARRIVING HERE

DAREDEVILS BURNING THE SKIES; McELROYS, BIER-RUM AND DILTS ON TOUR

With a clear blue sky for a perfect ceiling and ideal weather conditions, the 50-some planes of the eighth Indiana Air tour roared over town this afternoon for their scheduled stop at the local port and to thrill the several thousand air minded residents with their antics in the air.

From the tiniest Taylor Cub to the largest tri-motored Stinson and the loudest army plane all were prepared to enjoy the afternoon at the port and entertain the crowd. The stunt parade, led by the famous Lieut. Joe Mackey and his world known Lince flying circus, and Wild Mike Murphy of Kokomo was all that anyone could expect. The stunt pilots put their planes through power dives, spins of all kinds, barrel rolls and tapered off with sky writing and upside down flying.

Many spectators availed themselves of the opportunity to see the crowd and the country from the field when they took rides in the various planes, piloted by notables.

The tour, which began Monday morning at the Indianapolis airport, has been stopping at various towns putting on their show and otherwise enjoying themselves.

Local persons on the tour are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McElroy, Ivan Bierrum and James Dilts, Jr. The latter is the first from Winamac, not a licensed pilot, to follow the tour. McElroy, pilot, Bierrum and Dilts are in Bierrum's taper wing Waco, while Mrs. McElroy is flying her own Rearwin Junior.

Bill Moose, formerly of Denham and now of Russiaville, has been getting his share of publicity on the tour by having as a passenger Lola Mae, a Jersey calf.

State Air Tour Brings Thrills to Winamac Crowd

Hundreds of Pulaski county people gathered at the Winamac airport last Thursday afternoon to welcome more than forty planes making the annual Indiana Air Tour; to inspect the variety of ships, ranging from a tiny "Cub" to giant tri-motor cabin planes, and to enjoy the thrills afforded by exhibitions of stunt flying.

The first of the planes arrived shortly after 3:00 o'clock, and from then on for nearly an hour they came floating in, most of them circling the port before landing. They were taxied into long rows on two sides of the field, just within the long lines of automobiles that had brought the local visitors.

Lieut. Joseph Mackey of Findlay, Ohio, didn't take time to land before he put on an exciting exhibition of rolling, diving, upside-down flying and other tricky stunts. Then followed a similar exhibition by Mike Murphy of Kokomo, who kept the spectators in a state of awe as he drove his small machine into every conceivable kind of twist. Both flyers received rounds of applause on landing.

Home Folks In Party.

The tour carried no little local interest because four Pulaski county people were in the party—Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McElroy and James Dilts Jr. of Winamac, and Ivan Bierrum of Francesville. They made the entire trip over the state, except that they flew home Wednesday evening instead of spending that night with the party at Michigan City.

Friday, the day after the stop here, marked the fourth anniversary of Mr. McElroy's crash in the jungles of Central America, where his plane struck a mountain during a storm and he lay injured for seventeen days before a native Indian boy rescued him.

The tourists came here from Rochester, after a previous stop at Rensselaer. After an hour of refreshment they started out in groups of one to three for Culver, where they spent the night. The state tour ended Sunday.

Wounded Plane Gunner Pictures War End Far Off

"Don't let anybody tell you that the war in Europe is nearly over. Jerry is the kind of fighter who never gives up, and we have a long way to go yet before we lick him."

This warning was expressed at the Kiwanis meeting Tuesday by Sgt. Ivan Bierrum, wounded plane gunner, now home on furlough after a series of missions out of a base in England. He attended the Kiwanis meeting as a guest of James Freeman.

Without exposing any military secrets, Sgt. Bierrum kept his hearers interested by relating numerous experiences during his training period, his trip by air to England during stormy weather, his splendid treatment at the hands of English people, and a few facts about bombing flights over targets in continental Europe.

It was on one such flights, last March, that he was hit on one leg by a piece of flak. He has sufficiently recovered from the injury to make the trip home for a visit with his mother, Mrs. Peter Bierrum of Francesville; his wife, who lives in Winamac, and other relatives.

Obituaries

Ivan Bierrum

Ivan M. Bierrum, age 98 of 1202 W. St. Rd. 14, Winamac, IN, passed away Thursday, Sept. 12 at the Iron River Care Center. He was born Dec. 13, 1912 in Francesville, IN, son of Peter Bierrum and Mary Barbary Fillman Bierrum.

Mr. Bierrum married Edna Ruth Kersey on Dec. 18, 1937 in Huntington, IN and she preceded him in death on Sept. 26, 2000. He was a Life member of the VFW Post No. 1728 Winamac, IN and was a self-employed construction worker. He flew as a barnstormer pilot during the Great Depression years. He had lived all his life in Pulaski County. He enlisted in the U.S. Army Air Force in Sept. 1942 and received training as a combat aerial gunner on a B-24 Liberator Bomber. Arriving in England he was posted at Station 114 in Hethel, Norfolk as a member of the U.S. 8th Air Force, 2nd Division, 389th Bomb Group 566th Squadron, where he attained the rank of Staff Sgt. He was wounded on his 23rd bombing mission over enemy territory on March 20, 1944 and was awarded the Purple Heart by order of Lt. General James Doolittle. Attending the award ceremony were Supreme Commander General Dwight David Eisenhower and Charles DeGaulle leader of the Free French. SSgt. Bierrum was also awarded the two Air Medals, the Presidential Unit Citation, the European-African-Middle Eastern Campaign Medal, two Good Conduct Medals, the WWII Victory Medal and the Honorable Service Lapel Button. These medals, earned 58 years ago, had been lost but were recently replaced by the Dept. of the Army with the valuable assistance of the office of Congressman Steve Buyer, his assistant Beverly Hopkins, and Pulaski County Veterans Service Officer Bill Mohr. He was preceded in death by five sisters, Clara and Ida Bierrum, Lottie Capper, Maude Roach and Gladys Amaun and four brothers, William, Francis, Henry and Clarence Bierrum.

Ivan is survived by one daughter, Marla Bierrum of Burlington, IN; one son, Gary Bierrum of Crystal Falls; three grandsons, Michael (Kelly) Bierrum of Star City, IN, Martin (Tina) Bierrum of Winamac, IN and Charles Lemeron of Noblesville, IN; one granddaughter, Lori Bierrum; one sister-in-law, Marguerite (Richard) Wiebusch of Burlington, IN; six great-grandchildren and several nieces and nephews also survive.

Funeral services were held Tuesday, Sept. 17 at Frain Mortuary in Winamac, IN. Clergy Rev. Glen Meyers officiated. Burial took place Sept. 17 in the McKinley Memorial Gardens in Winamac. The Frain Mortuary Inc. was in charge of funeral arrangements and local arrangements were handled by the Jacobs-Plowe Funeral Home of Crystal Falls.

Plane Named for Winamac

An American warplane in France has been named the "Winamac Werewolf," after the old hometown, by its pilot, Lt. Richard Heinke, he told his grandfather, A. H. Richardson, in a letter written in France November 26 and received here December 9. Lt. Heinke said he finally found a man who knew where Winamac was and also said his mail and Christmas packages were slow in arriving. A graduate of the Winamac high school in 1939, Lt. Heinke has been across for two months.

Cheer Up Club, et al.

The worries of the US entry into the war in Europe, followed by two years of World War I, surely weighed on the folks in Pulaski County. Sharing that burden helped. For women, there had been a tradition of social clubs. Now that tradition had turned toward coping with the worry of the loved ones away at war and with the burdens of rationing and recycling at home. Announcements of meetings for new clubs, such as the Cheer Up Club, Happy Hour Class, and Polly Ann Sewing Club, began to appear.

The Cheer Up club meeting was postponed Thursday and the next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Amanda Miller, August 3rd at Medaryville.

Rationing

Rationing continued, though to some degree mediated by Victory Gardens. Fortunately, farm machinery was becoming more available.

Now is the time to PLANT A VICTORY GARDEN

Make your spare time count for Victory!

Planting a Victory Garden is not only patriotic... but it's thrifty and healthful too.

PATRIOTIC because food fights for freedom. The food grown in your own garden saves transportation, packing and labor.

THRIFTY because you save points.

HEALTHFUL because you get exercise, sunshine and fresh air and your family will thrive on the tasty vegetables you grow.

If you grew a Victory Garden last year, why not try to manage a bigger one this year?

Rationing at a Glance

Meats, Cheese, Butter, Fats,
All red stamps A8 through Z8, good indefinitely for 10 points

Processed Foods

Blue stamps A8 through Z8 and A-5 in book 4 good indefinitely for 10 points. Tokens may be used for change. Stamps W8 through Z8 and A-5 became valid July 1 and will be good indefinitely.

Sugar

Stamps 30, 31 and 32 in Book 4 good indefinitely for five pounds. Stamp 40 in Book 4 good for five pounds of canning sugar through Feb. 28, 1945. Applications for additional canning sugar may be made by sending Spare Stamp 37 with each application to local rationing board.

Shoes

Book 3 airplane stamps 1 and 2 good until further notice.

Gasoline

12A Coupons are valid for three gallons through Sept. 21. B3, B4, C3, C4 coupons good for five gallons. A, B, C, D and T coupons not valid until endorsed with the automobile license number.

Tires

Commercial vehicle tires must be inspected every six months or every 5,000 miles, whichever is first. No inspection of passenger car tires is required. Tire inspection records for passenger cars must be retained in order to obtain gasoline and tire replacements.

Stoves

Certificates to purchase most heating and cooking stoves that burn coal, wood, oil or gas now must be obtained from local rationing boards.

Farm Machinery Off Ration List

All farm machinery except corn pickers was released from rationing today. Walde Huddleston, Pulaski County AAA chairman, was informed by telegram.

The information was also broadcast by radio and many Pulaski county farmers called or visited the AAA office in the court house seeking additional information.

A check of county implement dealers revealed that no additional machinery other than allotments already set are expected in Pulaski county. These dealers have little or no machinery on hand now. Many farmers and practically all the dealers were mystified by the unlooked for action inasmuch as there is less machinery available today than in 1942 when rationing was started.

The Pulaski County Farm Machinery Rationing Board consists of Mr. Huddleston as chairman; Preston Nice, Charles Ginter, Harvey Hiatt and Herman Bremer.

The board will continue to function for the rationing of corn pickers, the AAA office reported.

AN EDITORIAL

A frantic New Deal party, seeking to head off defeat, committed an unpardonable sin today. It used a war agency in an effort to curry favor with farmers.

Franklin D. Roosevelt's farm advisers announced that all farm machinery except corn pickers are released from rationing.

This action is an insult to the intelligence of farmers. Who knows better than the food producers that the harvest is practically over and that there is no need for equipment now—except the corn pickers and they remain on the ration list. After the corn is picked they will probably be released.

Everyone who knows anything about farming knows that implement dealers do not now have and do not expect to have any appreciable amount of equipment because it is just not being made.

The action is not only an insult to the intelligence of every farmer but it is also an affront to the loyal American citizens, members of both political parties, who have given of their time to get a fair distribution of machinery by serving without pay on farm machinery rationing boards.

Only the simple minded will fail to see through this latest political move by the New Deal.

From this action it is safe to predict that other items will leave ration lists as the frantic bureaucrats seek out the voter.

Recycling

Cooking fats were vital to the war effort in the production of explosives. Recycled paper was also of use.

Why you now get FREE MEAT POINTS for Used Cooking Fats

TO HELP END THIS WAR SOONER . . . to make life-saving battlefield medicines and gunpowder . . . the government has asked housewives to turn in their used cooking fats. For these necessities of war cannot be made without glycerine. And glycerine cannot be made without fats.

THE GOVERNMENT TURNED to the women of America because (1) the Far East islands that supplied a thousand million pounds of fats and oils each year were captured by the Japanese right after Pearl Harbor; and because (2) at least five hundred million pounds of fats, rich in glycerine, were being thrown away in American kitchens.

TODAY THE NEED for glycerine is more urgent than ever. So much so that the government has authorized your meat dealer to give you 4¢ and two ration points you can use for the purchase of meat, shortening or oil, any time, anywhere, in exchange for every pound of used cooking fat you turn in.

FREE POINTS for used fats are given to you as a matter of simple justice. You pay points for the meats and fats that you buy. It is only fair that the vital fats you return to the national economy should be paid for in kind.

DON'T THINK there's ever too little left in your skillet or pan, or to skim off soups or gravies. Every drop of fat is needed, no matter how much you've cooked with it or how black it is! It will still yield crystal-pure glycerine.

SO SAVE EVERY DROP of fat, after you've gotten all the cooking good out of it. Save it in a tin can, a fruit, soup, vegetable can . . . any kind of can will do, but please, not glass. When it's full, rush it to your meat dealer! You'll be doing a job that's as vitally important as any in this fight to Victory!

Glycerine Makers Urge Cleanliness in Used Fats

Much of the used kitchen fat recently turned in by housewives in exchange for red ration points has been found to contain a high proportion of foreign matter, reports the Office of Price Administration. Used fats, from which pure glycerine must be processed, constitute a vital part in the production of essential war supplies. When such foreign matter as nuts, bolts, nails, sand, water and other substances are found in containers turned in, glycerine manufacturers are greatly hampered in producing the pure product needed in the many wartime items of which it is a necessary part.

OPA urged that, in view of the importance of these many uses, housewives make sure that containers in which they put used fats are clean and dry, and that they allow no adulterants to become mixed with their kitchen fats before they turn them in to their food dealers.

Kids help!

At the urging of schools and other organizations, children gathered milkweed pods to be used for life jackets.

School Children Asked To Collect Milkweed Pods

The County War Board has appointed County Agent C. E. Olson as county chairman of the milkweed pod collection campaign. This campaign will get underway the latter part of August or the first of September. The War Food Administration will buy milkweed floss for the armed forces this fall to be used in life jackets, life belts and similar equipment as a substitute for Java Kapok.

All youth organizations and school children are urged to take part in this campaign. Bags will be furnished by the county agent's office. Boys and girls will be paid at the rate of 20c per bag of dried pods. Everyone should be on the look-out for patches of milkweed now, Mr. Olson states.

Pulaski County (IN) Democrat 17 Aug 1944: 1.

Plan Drive To Gather Milkweed

Pulaski county farmers were asked to be on the look-out for patches of milkweed and to notify County Agent C. E. Olson's office, as plans were completed by the local War Board to hold a collection campaign for milkweed pods.

The floss from these pods is needed to make life preservers. Mr. Olson said that all persons interested in picking milkweed pods should contact his office. Empty bags for the collection will be distributed through his office and at schools.

Winamac (IN) Republican 17 Aug 1944: 1.

Time for Picking.

Picking should not begin until some of the seeds in the pods have turned brown, for if they are picked too green they lack the desired buoyancy and are worthless for making life belts. As soon as pods are picked they should be placed in the mesh bags furnished by the county leader. The bags should then be hung on a fence or rail so that they do not touch the ground until they are thoroughly dry. It will take from two to four weeks for them to dry thoroughly, depending upon the weather. They may be left out in the rain without damage to the floss.

When the bags are thoroughly dry, they will be brought to a designated point in the county and assembled in storage. They will be kept in storage until transportation can be arranged for moving them to Petoskey, Mich., for processing.

War Hemp, Inc., will advance funds for the payment of pods at the rate of 20 cents a bag (about one bushel in size).

Picking should not begin until some of the seeds in the pods have turned brown, Mr. Olson added, and pointed out that if picked too green, the floss lacks the desired buoyancy and is worthless for making lifebelts.

As soon as the pods are picked, the bags should be hung up so that they do not touch the ground until they are thoroughly dry. It will take from two to four weeks for the pods to dry thoroughly, depending upon the weather. The bags may be left in the rain without damage to the floss.

When the bags are thoroughly dry, they will be brought to the school or some designated point in the county for storage until transportation is arranged to Petoskey, Mich., where the pods will be processed.

Milk-Weed Pods for Life Jackets

Scenes like this will be common in Indiana during the coming weeks as school boys and girls respond to the call for help in the gathering of milk-weed pods for the making of life saving jackets. The floss of the pod is being used in place of kapok to fill the all-important jackets.

In most counties of Indiana, the county superintendent of schools is serving as leader of the campaign for collection of the pods, in others the county agent or the local AAA chairman, Oliver C. Lee, of the Purdue University Extension staff, and state leader of the drive reports. The campaign is being conducted aggressively in practically every county with many "bushels" of the pods already being hung up to dry. The children are to get 20 cents per bag, about one bushel, for the pods.

Milk Weed Pods Ripe

The milkweed pod crop is ripe now in Pulaski county, advises County Agricultural Agent C. E. Olson, and should be harvested immediately before pods burst and allow the floss to scatter. Bags for picking have been distributed to school and to other groups that are organizing harvesting parties. Those who do not have bags for picking, may obtain them from the school principal, county superintendent or county agricultural agent. Collectors are instructed to pick the entire pod and to use the net bags provided, as the pods may spoil in other types of containers. Bags should be hung on a fence immediately after picking until the pods are dry.

Milkweed Pods To Be Brought in This Week

Approximately 1000 school children in Pulaski county will receive their money soon for milkweed pods collected this fall. School leaders have been asked to notify all children who have collected pods to bring them to the schools this week.

Alpha Hoessel, county highway supervisor, stated that the highway trucks will co-operate in hauling the pods from the schools to Winamac for storage. They will be collected by the trucks the latter part of next week.

Pulaski County (IN) Democrat 2 Nov 1944: 1.

A check for over $600 has been received by C. E. Olson, county leader, who will disperse it to the school leaders in payment for the pods.

Everyone is urged to get their pods in now before wet weather starts. Anyone wishing to bring their pods directly to Winamac may do so this Saturday, November 4. They will be stored in the building just north of Von Tobel's Lumber Yard, formerly the Sheridan junk yard.

PAY FOR MILKWEED PODS

Approximately 1,000 Pulaski county school children will share in the $600 being distributed by C. E. Olson, county agent, for their work in collecting milkweed pods for use in the manufacture of life belts.

The money is being distributed through schools as the students bring in the collected pods. Meanwhile Alpha Hoessel, county highway superintendent, announced that trucks will be available for hauling the pods from these schools to Winamac for storage.

The pods are being stored in the building just north of Von Tobel's lumber yard which was formerly occupied by the Sheridan junk yard.

In announcing the distribution of the funds, Mr. Olson urged everyone who participated in the collection drive to get the pods in before wet weather starts.

Milkweed Pod Campaign Brings in 2700 Bags

Incomplete tabulations show that approximately 2700 full bags of milkweed pods were collected by the boys and girls of Pulaski county. These have been brought to Winamac by the county highway trucks.

Checks totaling $540 will be distributed to the school leaders who co-operated in the campaign in payment for the pods, it is announced by County Agent C. E. Olson.

There are approximately 400 empty bags which have not been turned in to date. Anyone having these bags in possession are requested to bring them to the county agent's office as soon as possible.

PAY FOR PODS

School students of Pulaski County collected 2,700 full bags of milkweed pods and received checks totaling $540 for their work in gathering the product which is used in making life belts for the Navy and Merchant Marine.

The pods were brought to Winamac for storage by county highway trucks, C. E. Olson, county agriculture agent, reported.

Mr. Olson added that 400 empty bags have not been turned in as yet. All persons who have these bags are requested to bring them to the county agent's office.

Pick Milkweed Pods

Children of the Walters school picked 205 bags of milk weed pods, for which they received $43.00. Of this sum, $20.20 was for bags credited to the school, and was used for the purchase of group pictures of the school for each pupil and a wiener roast. The pupils buy an average of $10.00 worth of War Stamps weekly. Mrs. Fay Smith and I. E. Bird are the teachers.

HOW Women HELP TO KEEP THEM ROLLING ON THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

A WAR ROLE FOR WOMEN . . . as a trainman on the Pennsylvania Railroad. Women serve on short runs, as a rule.

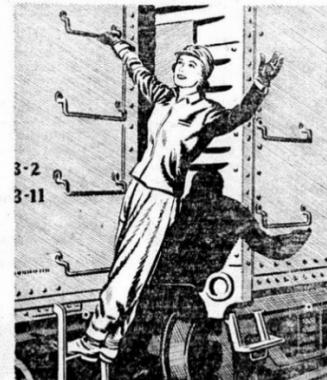

RAILROADING has always been regarded as a man's calling.

But when war reached deeply into railroad ranks — taking from the Pennsylvania Railroad alone more than 44,000 skilled and experienced workers for the Armed Forces — women were employed to help keep trains rolling.

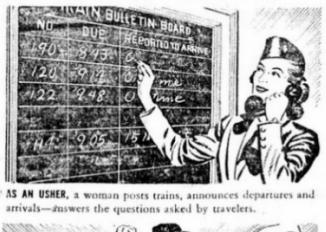

Today, on the Pennsylvania Railroad, approximately 22,000 women are serving in a wide variety of occupations — four of which you see illustrated here.

Positions such as trainmen, ticket sellers, train passenger representatives, ushers, information and reservation personnel call for intelligence, courtesy and a high degree of efficiency. Young women fresh from college and high school — after intensive training — have proved they can fill these roles most capably.

So, we're glad to have their help in the greatest job railroads have ever been called upon to do, moving men and materials to Victory!

AS A BRAKEMAN in freight yard operations, a woman fills a job that requires strength and coolness — in all weather.

AS AN USHER, a woman posts trains, announces departures and arrivals — answers the questions asked by travelers.

INFORMATION COUNTERS are besieged these days — so a woman's knowledge of travel must be extensive.

Boys Needed For Farm Labor Program

LAFAYETTE, Ind. —(UP)— J. B. Kohlmeyer, Purdue university state supervisor of the Emergency Farm Labor program, Wednesday sent orders to 37 county agricultural agents to recruit 1,400 boys 14-years-old and older to detassel hybrid seed corn in central and northwestern Indiana.

He said detasseling was expected to start around July 15 and would reach a peak Aug. 1. A total of 6,000 persons will be needed, but 4,600 were expected to be recruited in areas nearby the seed field. The youth will live in work camps and be paid for their services.

Kingsbury, the munitions plant north of Winamac, was a major employer. Note that optimism in the September item, "Kingsbury Future is Uncertain" (below), that the D-Day invasion of France guaranteed the end of Hitler. In October, there was another "Open House". The previous year's event drew 30,000 attendees. In November, there was a "War Film". (Imagine that in "IMAX" today!).

Kingsbury Sets Record

A production record for 1943 startling in its magnitude was announced today at Kingsbury Ordnance plant by Lt. Col. Stanley Shubart, commanding officer.

"Well over 250,000,000 loaded components, representing many different times, were produced at Kingsbury during the past year," he said.

The significance of the large scale loading was illustrated by Col. Shubart in his observation that the production record represented "bombs for capacity loads of 6,500 bombers, shells to keep 500,000 various size cannons in action 1 minute, grenades and mines to circle all world battle fronts."

"At the present time we are loading an average of 14 different items each month. However, only 4 of the items now being manufactured were on our production schedules a year ago," Col. Shubart said.

Rationing

While Victory Gardens were still encouraged, rationing of meat ended as well as of most farm machinery.

Pulaski County (IN) Democrat 13 Apr 1944: 5.

Most Meats Removed From Rationing List

All meats except beef steaks and beef roasts were removed from rationing last midnight.

All cuts of pork, veal, lamb, and mutton are now point-free, Price Administrator Chester Bowles said in a surprise announcement. The point-free category includes flank steaks, beef hamburger, beef stew meat, all variety meats, sausage of all types, ready-to-eat meats, canned meats, and canned fish.

Points on choice beef steaks and roasts remain at their present levels.

At the same time Bowles ordered the monthly allotment of sixty red points for each individual cut to thirty, beginning May 7.

Pulaski County (IN) Democrat 4 May 1944: 1.

1944: In the Thick of It – Also in the Paper

The government food program in 1943 called for the production of an unprecedented number of hogs, cattle and lambs. Patriotic farmers and ranchers equalled—and surpassed—their quotas, despite shortages of help, equipment, and other restrictions. They did a grand job—but so much more livestock than usual created marketing and meat packing problems.

Ordinarily the heaviest livestock marketing comes in the fall and winter months and that is when the greatest volume reached market in the past year. As a result, some "little pigs" had to stay at home for a week or two. Another heavy run began in the last week in April. Again the markets were over-supplied, so more livestock had to be held back for a time.

New Records Established

We at Swift & Company bought more livestock in these heavy markets than in any comparable periods in our history. We did this by working long hours at top capacity—a 12-hour day was usual for many of our staff—and by operating six and seven days a week. These new records were made in spite of many handicaps and difficulties. We often bought more hogs, cattle, and lambs in a day than we could slaughter in our plants. Sometimes we had on hand several extra days' supply of livestock. That was costly, for held-over livestock shrink and must be fed, and there are bound to be death losses. But, nevertheless, we bought all we possibly could handle every day.

Many Problems

And in addition to the increased numbers of cattle, hogs and lambs to be handled, we were up against other problems which we have in common with producers. For instance, shortage of help—especially experienced help. More than 18,000 Swift employees are in the armed services. Then, our meat coolers and freezers were often filled to capacity with meats, much of it for the army, navy and lend-lease. Containers and other supplies were difficult to obtain.

Producers should be able to market their livestock at any time according to their own wishes and judgment. That is the way we want it to be. And we hope producers will be able to spread out the sending of their livestock to market in order to avoid "glutted" conditions.

Farm Machinery Off Ration List

All farm machinery except corn pickers was released from rationing today Walde Huddleston, Pulaski County AAA chairman, was informed by telegram.

The information was also broadcast by radio and many Pulaski county farmers called or visited the AAA office in the court house seeking additional information.

A check of county implement dealers revealed that no additional machinery other than allotments already set are expected in Pulaski county. These dealers have little or no machinery on hand now. Many farmers and practically all the dealers were mystified by the unlooked for action inasmuch as there is less machinery available today than in 1942 when rationing was started.

The Pulaski County Farm Machinery Rationing Board consists of Mr. Huddleston as chairman; Preston Nice, Charles Gintner, Harvey Hiatt and Herman Bremer.

The board will continue to function for the rationing of corn pickers, the AAA office reported.

AN EDITORIAL

A frantic New Deal party, seeking to head off defeat, committed an unpardonable sin today. It used a war agency in an effort to curry favor with farmers.

Franklin D. Roosevelt's farm advisers announced that all farm machinery except corn pickers are released from rationing.

This action is an insult to the intelligence of farmers. Who knows better than the food producers that the harvest is practically over and that there is no need for equipment now—except the corn pickers and they remain on the ration list. After the corn is picked they will probably be released.

Everyone who knows anything about farming knows that implement dealers do not now have and do not expect to have any appreciable amount of equipment because it is just not being made.

The action is not only an insult to the intelligence of every farmer but it is also an affront to the loyal American citizens, members of both political parties, who have given of their time to get a fair distribution of machinery by serving without pay on farm machinery rationing boards.

Only the simple minded will fail to see through this latest political move by the New Deal.

From this action it is safe to predict that other items will leave ration lists as the frantic bureaucrats seek out the voter.

1944: In the Thick of It – Also in the Paper

D-Day

Although specifics were kept secret, an Allied invasion of France was expected, and "Invasion Prayers" were planned. The event was exceptional in another way. It was the first time in at least 35 years that these two local weeklies had front-page items about an international event. Although optimism about the quick end to the war was high, Doc Halleck, now a Lt. Col., wrote home, "Do not let your hopes for an early victory get built up....".

INVASION PRAYERS

Winamac pastors have arranged for a union prayer service to be held as soon as the European invasion is opened. In order that townspeople will be informed of the invasion, the fire siren will give the signal with three short and one long blasts. The prayer services, to be held in the Methodist Church, will follow immediately. If the signal comes on Sunday morning, each church will hold its own prayer service.

Winamac (IN) Republican 11 May 1944: 1.

INVASION COMES!

The people of Winamac and Pulaski county awoke Tuesday morning to hear that the invasion of the French coast had begun during the night. In Winamac four blasts of the fire siren at eight o'clock informed persons that church services would be held immediately. Flags were flown all day along the streets, but residents went about their business calmly.

The allied invasion of Hitler's European fortress was announced in America at 2:32 a.m. Central War time Tuesday, the first landing on the northern coast of France taking place from 11 p.m. to 4:25 a.m. CWT. Under the command of Gen. Eisenhower, allied forces, supported by strong naval and air forces, fought their way inland over a 100-mile stretch of the Normandy coast between Cherbourg and LeHarve. Thousands of airborne troops and parachutists landed behind the enemy lines to spearhead the attack.

In the greatest military movement in history, the allies threw into the combat 4,000 ships and 11,000 planes. Landings were made with much lighter losses than were anticipated, beachheads were established and the landing forces pushed inland. Reinforcements have continued to land.

Enemy resistance stiffened as the Germans rushed reinforcement to the front and fierce fighting is in progress. The invaders have captured strategic points, including Bayeaux, the first enemy-held city in France to fall. Gen. Eisenhower, now at the front, stated that the invasion was "going pretty well according to plan."

The invasion news followed fast on the announcement of the rout of the Germans in Italy and the liberation of Rome, the first enemy capital to be taken by allied forces. The Fifth Army advanced forty miles beyond Rome.

Prayers Follow Invasion News

Pulaski county glued its collective ear to the radio Tuesday to listen with prayerful anxiety to news bulletins that the long-awaited invasion of Europe had begun. Newspaper extras sold fast.

Flags were unfurled and although the news was at first confined to early risers, it traveled fast and at 8 o'clock in the morning the siren was sounded in Winamac for prayer service at the Methodist church. Services were also held at St. Peter's church both in the morning and again Tuesday night.

Winamac (IN) Republican 8 Jun 1944: 1.

While most Pulaski county families are affected by the war, with men in service, many were vitally interested because a number of b'ys are stationed in England and probably now taking part in the invasion.

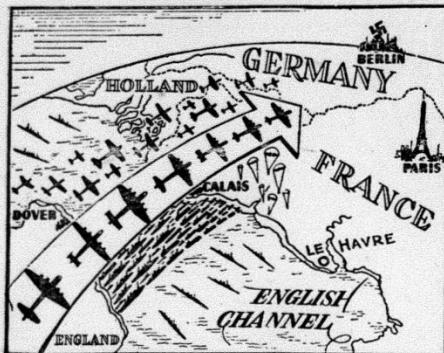

The Methodist church was filled with people of all denominations in prayerful attitude as were the Catholic services.

All business houses were closed during the prayer service which was preceded by organ music, "Faith of Our Fathers." The Rev. Robert Crosby read the scripture and gave a prayer, followed by prayers by the Rev. David Neilson and the Rev. C. R. Earle.

Our Boys: A Community During World War II

This Is the Way It Happened

Long Awaited 'Second Front' Spells Liberation for Many Occupied European Countries

Nazi sources first broke the story, announcing that naval units were shelling Le Havre, France, and that landing craft were nearing the shores. Landing attempts, general along the English channel coast, followed in reality the arrowed diagram of planes and ships from England to France.

Light broadened on the horizon . . . Thousands of planes blotted out the pale sky as their wings carried them onward to the thunder of their engines . . . Below, more than 6,000 ships of all types moved in a mass over the English channel . . .

Short moments later, hundreds of paratroopers tumbled from the planes and the sky over French Normandy was filled with the little white billows of their 'chutes; big battleships opened up a quaking fire on the French coast, and then landing vessels poked their snub-noses onto the sandy beaches and U. S. and British troops poured ashore, with tanks and other equipment unloaded behind them.

The invasion of Europe was on, the second front had been established!

Thus did June 6, 1944, go down in history as the date on which the democratic powers of U. S. and Britain challenged Adolf Hitler's "New Order" on his own battlefields of western Europe, the mighty gate to the Nazis' continental fortress, organized under dominion of the German wehrmacht.

Taking place 80 miles across the channel from England, the first Allied landings were made between the great ports of Le Havre and Cherbourg on the French coast, while masses of planes and ships bombarded Dieppe, Abbeville and Boulogne, farther to the east.

From the start, the invasion was a fight to the finish, with German destroyers and E-boats attacking the huge Allied fleet off the French coast. German reservists concentrated behind the lines for emergency service, rushed forward to meet U. S. and British paratroopers descending from the skies, and to combat Allied armored units pressing inland with tanks.

In the thunderous crescendo of the early fighting, the Allies penetrated from seven to ten miles inland, and reinforcements were put ashore to support the attack.

Under supreme command of U. S. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, with British Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery in charge of ground troops and British Adm. Bertram Home Ramsay leading the naval forces, U. S. and British fighting men spearheaded the invasion, receiving support from smaller units of Norwegians, Poles, Dutch, French and Greeks.

As the Allies secured beachheads on the French coast and thrust inland toward Paris, German forces counterattacked vigorously under icy, 69-year-old Field Marshal von Rundstedt and storied Erwin Rommel. Adolf Hitler, himself, reportedly rushed to the invasion area to preside over the enemy's military directorate.

Speaking in Britain's house of commons after the invasion got under way, Prime Minister Winston Churchill declared that the landing operations were supported by 11,000 front-line aircraft, all used in any particularly critical sector.

The Allies' invasion came after the victorious assault on Rome and weeks of intensive aerial bombardment designed to wreck enemy communications, defenses and industry in the west.

Throwing the full weight of the U. S. Fifth and British Eighth armies at the Germans in the Italian offensive, the Allies successfully tied up an estimated 25 divisions, or about 300,000 Nazis, in that country.

Rather than call upon additional reserves to meet the Allies' determined drive in Italy, the Nazi high command decided on a laborious retreat up the mountainous peninsula to the north, where they could eliminate the constant threat of landings in their rear and yet fall back on the last rugged peaks of the Apennines for a natural defense.

Although German Marshal Albert Kesselring managed to pull the bulk of his forces out of the bulk of the French coast was the prolonged bombardment of enemy positions within the whole area by fleets of thousands of U. S. and British war-planes of all types, from flashy fighter-bombers to the more ponderous Flying Fortresses and Lancasters.

Fortifications, airfields, railroads, power stations—everything of use to the Nazis in the defense against the invasion came under the bombsights of Allied airmen.

Because of their refusal to send more troops into Italy and thus draw upon their precious reserves for the invasion from the west, the German high command was compelled to surrender Rome and the boot of the big peninsula.

Because of their refusal to send more troops into Italy and thus draw upon their precious reserves for the invasion from the west, the German high command was compelled to surrender Rome and the boot of the big peninsula.

Thus was the Invasion launched only after the most careful and thorough destruction of essential elements in the enemy's defenses.

The Critical Hour

GENERAL DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER
Supreme Allied Commander.

Beaches like these were first military objectives.

The areas indicated in white on the above map is the Nazi defense zone. Continued bombing of key communications lines complicated the enemy's transportation problems and the past months of hammering at the German Luftwaffe so weakened that unit that the Allied air force dictated terms on which they should meet. Several weeks ago it was reported that Field Marshal Erwin Rommel had moved approximately a quarter of a million men to that area.

SOFTENED UP

Important factor in the Allies' landings on the French channel coast was the prolonged bombardment of enemy positions within the whole area by fleets of thousands of U. S. and British war-planes of all types, from flashy fighter-bombers to the more ponderous Flying Fortresses and Lancasters.

Fortifications, airfields, railroads, power stations—everything of use to the Nazis in the defense against the invasion came under the bombsights of Allied airmen.

By hammering at railroad lines, the Allied command sought to disrupt the transport of troops and supplies to the areas where landings might be made. Not only did Vichy's collaborationists plead with French engineers to stay at the throats in the face of the severe bombardments, but the Germans then rushed key transport squads to help in keeping open the battered rail communications.

Thus was the Invasion launched only after the most careful and thorough destruction of essential elements in the enemy's defenses.

These Are Our Leaders in Battle . . .

Here are "thumb-nail" biographies of the Allied invasion leaders:

Gen. Dwight David Eisenhower, 53, supreme commander of all Allied forces, led the successful operation in North Africa, Sicily and Italy. He was born in Texas but reared in Kansas. In two years he rose from lieutenant colonel to a full general, and top-man for the invasion.

FORTRESS BARRIERS
Despite the extravagant propaganda of Hitler's "Atlantic Wall," the Nazis reportedly have taken no chances on putting all of their chips on it; on the contrary, not only have they spoken of the necessity of launching decisive counter-attacks against the invading forces, but they also have constructed defenses as far back as the German frontier.

Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder, 52, wounded infantryman of World War I, who successfully commanded Middle East and Allied Mediterranean air forces, is deputy supreme Allied commander.

Lieut. Gen. James H. ("Jimmy") Doolittle, 47, "the man who bombed Tokyo," is in command of the U. S. Eighth air force.

In constructing these defenses far to the rear of the English channel, the once-masters of the "blitz" have recognized the full weight which Supreme Commander Gen. Eisenhower will be able to throw at them. As a result, not only have they built strong fortifications of concrete and steel for miles back of the French coast, but they also have converted the once heralded Maginot line into a defensive bastion, to support their own famed Siegfried or "west wall."

War Dogs

In February 1944, seven "War Dogs" were accepted for training, although Jerry was returned four months later for being "of nervous temperament". Tippie's owner heard nothing but praise in a letter from the dog's handler.

Seven "War Dogs" Accepted for Training

Seven "war dogs" shipped out of here last week end have arrived safely at Fort Robinson, Neb., and were all reported acceptable for training, according to word received by Herbert Hoch, county War Dog chairman.

Dogs in the group are mostly collie shepherds, and were contributed by Robert Hanson, Francis Weldy, Dale Stout, Isaac Williamson, Martin Kuhn, Orville Greiger and Herman Dommer.

Mr. Hoch states that he is expecting another supply of shipping crates soon, and will continue to accept volunteers.

Soldier Letters

Cecil Lebo of Winamac received the following letter from a soldier this week, which explains some of the work being done by War Dogs. The dog Tipple mentioned was offered to the War Department by the Lebos and because of his alertness was accepted, even though he was a little undersize.

March 30, '44.

Mr. Lebo:

I hope you will not mind my writing like this, but I am a guard at Kellogg Field, Michigan, and I have a dog with me, a War Dog. Perhaps now you can guess the nature of my letter. My dog's name is Tipple. I got your name and address from his service record, so I thought I'd write and let you know how he is.

You have nothing to worry about. He is in the best of health. Every day I feed him a pound of steak, horse meat of course. He is also fed oat mash and vegetables. When the war is over you are going to have a top watch dog. He obeys like a real soldier and I am proud of him. He will sit, lie down, crawl and jump over a five foot hurdle on command. I am teaching him to roll over and in a couple of days he should have it pretty well.

Make no mistake, though, he is all War Dog. He can be as mean as sin when I want him to be, as the officer of the day can remember to his sorrow and pain. One night the O. D. tried to sneak up on Tipple and me in the dark. I didn't see or hear him but Tipple did. Tipple went for him and tore his jacket sleeve to ribbons before I could stop him. That was the last time I had trouble with the O. D.

Once a week the sergeant puts on a padded suit and we give Tipple a real work out. When that dog gets his teeth in the sergeant's arm all hell can't make him drop it until I give the word. Time to go on duty now so I will close. Hoping to hear from you soon, I remain,

Sincerely,
Pvt. Mike Dodsworth.

A Jeep, personnel carrier, half-track with a 50-caliber machine gun, and an amphibious "duck," as well as guns, other weapons, and equipment, were demonstrated by soldiers, many of whom had combat experience and some were Purple Heart recipients.

Army Veterans of Foreign Service To Show Arms

The Army Firepower Caravan, which stops in Winamac today, Thursday, brings with it a group of overseas veterans. Eight of the fourteen soldiers who will demonstrate the equipment have met the Germans or Japs and some have been wounded.

These men will give firing demonstrations of the Army's small arms, including the Garand rifle, carbine machine gun, tommy gun, trench mortar, and the bazooka. They also will show how mine detectors, walkie-talkies and booby-traps operate, and what a terrific punch the 105mm. howitzer has.

In addition to the "jeep," several other types of Army vehicles will be on display—trucks that keep men and supplies moving, the half-track that carries a 50 caliber machine gun for protecting troops against enemy airplane strafing, the amphibious "duck," which is at home in water as on land.

The exhibit will be continuous up to 10 o'clock tonight, with special shows at 2:00 in the afternoon and 7:30 in the evening on the block in front of the court house. The show comes here through the co-operation of the American Legion Post and the Kiwanis club of Winamac, the Army and Kingsbury Ordnance plant.

War Bonds

The year 1944 started with letters from Don and Harold, stationed in the Pacific, urging everyone to buy bonds. The full-page bond ads were thought-provoking.

From a Hospital

Few people back home seem to know what is meant by a fox hole. They'd know after they stayed in one for about thirty-six hours without hardly moving. There are always two men in a fox hole, so if one goes to sleep and starts to snore, the other can wake him. The enemy may be close enough to hear.

You must also be careful of snakes. They are awful. I know one fellow here who was bitten on the leg by a snake while he was asleep, and his leg had to come off. Another bad thing is, it's always raining, and the mud is terrible. But the worst is yet to come. That is about the mosquitoes. They're as thick as flies, and nine out of ten carry malaria.

Pulaski County (IN) Democrat 27 Jan 1944: 1.

The rations are pretty good, if you can get to them, but lots of times in the day I would catch frogs, pull their legs off and roast them with a match. It was pretty good. Try it some time.

As for entertainment, you haven't any, unless you and your partner draw straws to see which one took guard first, or play cards, gamble, take all his money, then give it back and start over.

No, some people in the states don't know what it's all about. But I would like to ask everyone a favor—buy more war bonds, so we boys can have plenty to fight with so we can get this damn war over.

CPL. DON D. BUDD.

From the Aleutians

At an outpost like this, our only source of supplies is by boat, weather permitting. This makes our mails very slow. By the time I get the county paper it is a month old.

I have noticed that the sale of war bonds hasn't been so very good sometimes, and I am wondering what attitude people take toward the war. Are they getting used to it, and pass it off as one of those things that will wear itself out some time?

From the North Pacific to the South Pacific our boys are buying all the bonds they can possibly afford, besides giving their service and possibly their lives to their country. So it seems to me that the least people at home could do is to back them up with war bonds.

I have now been isolated from civilization for nearly two years, most of that in the dreary, windswept and fog-bound Aleutians. I know that the boys here are buying lots of bonds every payday, hoping that it will hasten the day that they can get back to civilization again. Some day the boys will be coming home from the battle fronts of the world, looking for jobs to help pay for the peace and democracy they fought for.

Back the bucks with bonds.
PFC HAROLD MCKINLEY.

BATTLE CRY!

CHINESE SOLDIERS have a battle cry: "Gung-Ho!" Literally translated, means "Working together!" In Americanese, it means Teamwork.

And Teamwork is a word every American understands—in peace-time as in war. In this war, it means perfect understanding among our Government, our service men, our home front.

It means our confidence in our fighters' ability. It means their faith in us to provide the material to do the job

It means buying War Bonds. And a very good buy they are, too!

For every three dollars we invest in War Bonds, Uncle Sam promises four back in ten years. There's no more honorable promise in the world!

Buy War Bonds. They're a wonderful investment—for you as well as America!

Let's all KEEP BACKING THE ATTACK!

Old Joe said to Young Joe...

" . . . when you get over there in the thick of it, son, you will have time to think about the fancy ideals you're supposed to be fighting for. You'll be interested mostly in shooting straight, and shooting fast."

"But some night when you're lying out under the stars, you'll probably figure the whole thing out—and it will be very simple."

"You'll realize that you're fighting to protect the kind of decency and freedom you were raised in—and will want to raise your kids in, too."

"You'll be fighting to protect the opportunity that all Americans have of starting at the bottom and getting to the top—and that's typically American."

"You're fighting to protect your right to live your own life in your own way without being pushed around by some bright young bureaucrat who wants to do all your planning for you."

"That's about all there is to it, son. But it's mighty worth while this business of keeping our freedom—of sticking to the things that have been great."

"I've often thought that our own family is a pretty good example of what can happen in this country—and nowhere else. I started as a chore boy on this very farm, when I was ten years old. Made up my mind I'd own it some day. Nothing in the world to stop me—if I really wanted it."

"We didn't have good roads in those days. No cars or trucks or tractors. No radios. No airplanes. No telephones, movies, or electric lights."

"I didn't have much education—didn't have the time or money to get it. But I made up my mind that my own children would have some of the things I didn't have. You've had a good education. You went to agricultural college. You've traveled around the country in your car. You've seen how the other fellow lives and runs his farm. You keep up to date on the radio, your reading—and your various farm associations."

"And, son, it's hard to believe that most of the inventions, advantages and improvements that have made you more efficient and more comfortable, have happened in my lifetime."

"But that's the very thing I'm talking about. That's the power of America. We've got push in this country—and ingenuity—the drive to keep on getting stronger and better all the time. And out of that goes to see that nothing stops that kind of progress—nothing but the outside, nor from the inside."

"You're a chip off the old block, son. You think about the way I do. You work hard—very hard. But you've had more advantages than I had. And you're a better man in every way. You'll go farther."

"You're the new type of American farmer. You're running a business when you farm today. It's a mighty important business too—and you've got to know your stuff.

"Just remember this, my boy—you're a free agent. Your future is under your own control. You're a natural American way of doing things has meant to you and me and millions of others, in opportunity, progress and happiness. That's what you're really fighting for, son. You put the heat on, over there—and I'll put it on over here."

Honor Roll

At the start of 1944, the American Legion built a wall to identify “Our Boys” in service. By the end of 1944, a more somber “Honor Roll” had grown to 21 of Our Boys dead. Unknown at the time, there were another 51 lost who had been connected to Pulaski County through blood or marriage.

Our Boys started to come home!

By 1944, some of the veterans had returned home, typically due to battle wounds. The government had begun providing benefits to its veterans.

Returning Vets To Be Schooled

Under provisions of recent legislation known as the G. I. Bill, any World War II veteran with 90 days or more of active service whose education was interrupted by war service is eligible for educational benefits, according to Mrs. Annabell Mangold, Red Cross Home Service secretary.

Such veterans are eligible to receive at least one year of schooling in high school, college or other educational institutions with additional years depending upon the length of war service and school success.

The U. S. Government will pay school expenses plus $50 a month subsistence allowance and $75 a month to veterans with dependents.

All eligible veterans may attend the school or college of his choice. Honorable discharges are required.

All persons desiring additional information on such education benefits may call at the Red Cross office located on the second floor of the Keller building, next door to the telephone office.

New Veterans' Law Effective Next Week

Veterans of World War II in this area who are unemployed may file claims for readjustment allowances under the G. I. Bill of Rights at the Indiana Employment Security office in Logansport, 408½ E. Broadway, Gordon E. Vertz, manager, said this week.

In Indiana, the readjustment allowances feature of the bill goes into effect in the week beginning September 10, 1944, Mr. Vertz said.

The allowance for a totally unemployed veteran who qualifies is $20 a week. A partially employed veteran, with earnings of less than $20, may claim partial allowance. Depending upon the length of service, unemployed veterans may receive up to 52 weeks for readjustment allowances.

Every veteran who files for readjustment allowances will be registered for work with the United States Employment Service.

Allowance For Jobless Veteran

Unemployed World War II veterans in Pulaski county may file claims for readjustment allowances beginning Sept. 10, in the Indiana Employment Security office in Logansport, Gordon E. Vertz, manager, announced yesterday.

The allowance for a totally unemployed veteran who qualifies is $20 a week. A partially employed veteran, with earnings of less than $20 a week may claim a partial allowance.

Unemployed veterans may receive up to 52 weeks for readjustment allowances, depending upon the length of their service. Every veteran who files for readjustment allowances will be registered for work with the United States Employment Service.

Mr. Vertz said that applications may be made to the Logansport office by mail, but veterans must make personal visits to the office when asked to do so.
